BRITAIN SEES HOPE OF KEEPING SPIRIT OF TREATIES ALIVE

Expressed by First Lord of Admiralty Before Passing of Estimates for Year—Conversations With Naval Powers Established Friendliest Contact—Groundless Charges Answered

LONDON, March 15 (CP).—The British House of Commons early today voted its approval, 158 to 48, of naval estimates for 1935 amounting to £60,050,000 ($291,843,000 at par), an increase of £3,500,000 over last year.

The vote came after Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, First Lord of the Admiralty, expressed the hope that the principle of the Washington Treaty, in some manner, could be perpetuated in order that the navies of the great powers may continue regulated by international agreement.

An amendment seeking a reduction by 2000 in the naval personnel of 94,482 was defeated, 155 to 35.

BRITAIN'S DESIRE
Introducing the naval estimates for the coming fiscal year, Sir Bolton also stressed Britain's desire to see the size of battleships, cruisers and their respective guns reduced by joint agreement.

He announced that the preliminary conversations with other naval powers to prepare the ground for "the approaching naval conference," had been of good service, establishing the friendliest contact with all delegations. His statement indicated that, officially, Great Britain is not ready to admit that no agreement can be reached on a substitute for the Washington

SAILORS QUIT SEATTLE LINER

Crew Strikes on President Jefferson—Conciliator Starts Work

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14 (AP).—A strike of the seamen's situation which has tied up about twenty vessels, mostly oil tankers, in Pacific Coast ports, was undertaken today by Joseph Meyers, Department of Labor conciliator, sent here by Labor Secretary Frances Perkins.

Meyers said tonight he had conferred with representatives of operators and seamen separately today, and expected them to meet jointly with him tomorrow in an attempt to arbitrate seamen's demands for better wages and working conditions.

The crews of two more vessels were continuing tonight a strike started during the day, when they left their ships, and were followed by longshoremen, who walked out while handling the ships' cargoes.

QUIT SEATTLE LINER

The 100-man crew of the American Mail liner President Jefferson, at Seattle, quit that ship, charging that non-union men had been employed; and in San Pedro the crew of twenty-four of the Isthmian Line's freighter Maine struck.

IS LOCAL MATTER

"No longshoremen's strike has been called from this office," Bridges said. "The local strikes are matters to be settled locally."

FORMER OFFICIALS TO FACE CHARGES

Men Dismissed From Vancouver Hospital Staff Are Arrested Following Discovery of Shortages

VANCOUVER, March 14 (CP).—George S. Haddon and Frederick Higgins, former officials of the Vancouver General Hospital, were arrested today in connection with the discovery of shortages in the hospital accounts. The discrepancies were stated to have totaled approximately $15,000. Haddon and Higgins were released on $5,000 bail each tonight.

The men were discharged by the hospital board on Monday following the auditors' report. Haddon was formerly business manager at the hospital and Higgins was accountant. The board has ordered a complete examination of the hospital accounts by an independent firm of auditors.

Arrive Here on World-Hike

When Pierre Carron, aged twenty-five years (left) and Elzear Duquette, aged twenty-one years, with their third partner, J. J. Hugg, arrived in Victoria yesterday, they completed a 3,000-mile walking trip from Montreal. The journey was the first lap in a world-circling jaunt by foot, which will be continued on Monday when the trio leave here for Halifax and then Europe. When the picture was taken, Mr. Hugg was not present. The three men live in the small 6 x 4½-foot "home," which they push on their journey.

SAYS B.C. GOT WORST OF PACT

Alaskan Boundary Revision Should Be Part of Road Discussion, House Told

"British Columbia lost its shirt when we matched wits over the territory that is now Washington and Oregon. We lost our hat in the Panhandle deal; our boots in the Alaskan-Yukon boundary settlement; and if we do not watch out we will lose the rest of our garments on the Alaska Road," Oliver Platt (Independent, Peace River), warned the Legislature yesterday.

The Northern member suggested that the House go on record as in favor of boundary revision being made a precedent to any national consideration of a new north-south highway through British Columbia territory. He advocated such a highway, if it passed close to the eastern areas of the province, via the Peace area into British Columbia, Finlay Forks, Telegraph Creek and to Atlin.

Arterial roads in British Columbia should be taken over by the Department of National Defence, Mr. Platt concluded. E. T. Kenney

CITY BUDGET HARD TO PLAN

Council Must Find Over $100,000 to Keep Forty-One Mill Rate

In order to keep the mill rate at forty-one mills, the City Council will have to find more than $100,000 to balance its budget, Mayor David Leeming declared yesterday.

To meet its share of contributable expense for relief undertakings, $105,000 will have to be borrowed by the city from the Provincial Government. Serial debentures amounting to $236,000, must also be refunded.

Government sanction for suspension of $258,000 in sinking fund payments will be sought by the council. A surplus of $50,000 will be withdrawn from the fund and used for general expenses. All these measures have met with the approval of Thomas Bradshaw, of Toronto, financial expert.

D. A. Macdonald, city treasurer and comptroller, is engaged on the 1935 budget, and it is expected that it will be presented to the council at the end of March on Mayor Leeming's return from Montreal.

CAPETOWN, South Africa, March 14 (CP, via Reuters).—It was learned authoritatively today that an amnesty will be granted to prisoners in South Africa on May 6, the silver jubilee of the King's ascension to the throne.

MISSISSIPPI ON RAMPAGE

Thousands Become Refugees as Levees Burst and Others Endangered

(By the Associated Press)
Rampaging tributaries of the Mississippi spilled a vast lake over the lowlands of Southern Illinois last night and battered through levees in Arkansas and Missouri. Six thousand refugees were counted by the Red Cross in a survey of the stricken thousands who watched anxiously for the crest, fearing other levees would burst today.

RESCUING FARMERS
Rescue craft plied the murky waters to remove marooned farmers from the homes they had refused to leave until too late.

Backwaters of the Mississippi showed through a levee yesterday at McBridge, Mo., and the Black River boiled over the protective wall at Mark, Ark., and engineers felt the levee at Newport, Mo., would not last through the day.

At Poplar Bluff, Mo., 3,000 refugees gathered, many of them billeted in the courthouse. Kennett, Mo., anticipated a break in the St. Francis River levee when the crest comes today. More than 5,500 may be made homeless if the Newport levee breaks.

BACKED OVER FARMS
Five hundred took to high land in Pemiscott County, Mo., when the Mississippi backed up over farm lands.

Forty per cent of Saline County, Ill., was reported under water and highways were inundated in many of the "Egypt" counties.

The flood was near a critical stage in the St. Francis and Black Valleys of Southeastern Missouri and Northeastern Arkansas, and the Mingo Basin district was a sheet of water, twenty-two miles long and five miles wide.

ORDER ARREST OF VENIZELOS

Cretan Court-Martial Pronounces Against Aged Rebel Leader

ATHENS, March 14 (CP-Havas).—Arrest of former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos, aged leader of the unsuccessful Greek revolt, was ordered tonight by a court-martial at Canea, Crete, capital of the island which Venizelos held until the end of the short-lived civil war. Venizelos and his wife are now refugees on the island of Rhodes, an Italian possession, safe for the moment.

A drastic purge of all Venizelist elements from government services was forecast by General John Metaxas, minister without portfolio, just before word was received of the court's order to arrest the rebel leader.

CABINET'S PROPOSALS
Removal from the army, navy and civil service of all those suspected of Venizelist sympathies, and a possible reorganization of the Cabinet, and suppression of the Senate, with strengthening of the Premier's powers, are among steps to be considered at a Cabinet meeting tomorrow, General Metaxas said after a long interview with Premier Panagiotis Tsaldaris.

The Premier, he said, had not committed himself on the proposals, which were brought up by General Metaxas, but will call a Cabinet meeting to consider them.

POINT blank denial, to rumors of defection in the Liberal caucus with reputed request for his own resignation, was made by Premier Pattullo at 5 p.m. yesterday at an audience given to news correspondents at the Legislative Buildings. Vancouver aid was promised.

In a three-point verbal statement, the Premier said the rumors were without foundation; that the Government stood ready to offer Vancouver practically all the financial aid in seeks, excepting right to defer interest payments, and that the Government was going through with construction of the Fraser River toll bridge, undeterred.

FOUND LYING BOUND IN PARK

Kidnapped Youth Released Uninjured—Held Prisoner for Three Days

WILMINGTON, Del., March 15 (AP).—Wilmington police today reported that Chester Hyde, nineteen, who was kidnapped three days ago from near his home in Colonia, N.J., was found bound and gagged in a park early today.

Two policemen stumbled over the boy's prostrate form in a secluded section of Rockford Park. He was unharmed and in good health.

Police said the boy told them he was dragged into an automobile by two men and a woman and taken to Philadelphia, where he was held a prisoner for three days in a rooming house.

TIED AND GAGGED
Both his hands and feet were tied with rope. A handkerchief was stuffed into his mouth to prevent an outcry. He said he had been lying there only a few minutes when police found him.

His captors, he told police, took him from the room where he was kept prisoner late last night and drove him to Wilmington. They made no effort to harm him, he said, and fed him regularly. They took $10 from his pockets.

Complaint of Chinese Consul That "Black Robe" Is Unfair to Countrymen Leads to Seizure on Instructions From Moving Picture Censor—Picture Made at Willows

Vancouver Officials Have No Knowledge of Action

ACTING on complaint of the Chinese consul in Vancouver, Provincial Police last night seized the films of "The Black Robe," Victoria-made motion picture which was having its premiere at the Empire Theatre. The police acted on a seizure warrant issued by the Attorney-General's department at the request of Moving Picture Censor J. A. Smith, to whom the Chinese consul had complained, it was stated.

The six reels of the dramatization of Guy Morton's book of the same name, was filmed by the Commonwealth Pictures, Ltd., at Willows Park, starring Nick Stuart, Lucille Brown, Harry Hastings and James McGrath. It was acquired by the Northern Film Company, Ltd., from the Commonwealth Company when that organization went into liquidation, and was released for showing for six days in Victoria, where large crowds were attracted to the Empire Theatre to witness a locally-produced picture.

CHALLENGE TAKEN UP
Lloyd George Sends Details of New Deal Proposal to Government

LONDON, March 14 (CP).—David Lloyd George, the war-time Prime Minister, tonight answered the Government's challenge on his new deal by forwarding his proposals in detail to the Prime Minister.

Shortly after the former Prime Minister started his campaign for national recovery, Government ministers said they were prepared to examine his proposals and adopt any that might be considered desirable—but that so far they did not know what he was talking about.

The proposals, contained in a memorandum of more than 100 typewritten pages, were sent with a letter in which Mr. Lloyd George said he assumes the Government will afford him the opportunity of appearing before a Cabinet committee, to which he understands his proposals will be submitted for examination.

VIEWS OF EXPERTS
The memorandum represents the views of experts drawn from all parties, said the Welsh wizard in his letter, "and regarding some I have no notion of which party they belong to."

"We have all striven to make a contribution to the national effort to solve the grave social and economic evils."

The terms of the memorandum will not be made public until the Government has framed its reply. Mr. Lloyd George has in general terms condemned the Government for "waiting for prosperity" and urged that, with money and materials cheap and labor abundant, heroic steps should be taken without delay. He said he would make "ruthless" use of tariffs to draw other nations into an all-embracing low-tariff agreement.

Premier Bennett In Better Spirits

OTTAWA, March 14 (CP).—Following an interview with Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, who has been ill since February 24, Sir George Perley, acting leader of the Government, said tonight the patient had spent a comfortable day and was in greatly improved spirits. It was the first visit the Prime Minister had received from any of his colleagues since Monday, when his physician ordered a complete rest.

Under the chairmanship of Mayor David Leeming, addresses on different phases of the tourist trade will be delivered by Mayor G. G. McGee, M.P.P.; L. A. Hanna, M.P.P.; Norman Whittaker, M.P.P.; Byron I. Johnson, M.P.P.; Hugh Savage, M.P.P.; and Herbert Anson, M.P.P., while T. H. Eslick, general secretary of the movement, will explain the five year plan and answer questions which have been sent in by citizens.

Delegations will attend the gathering from Nanaimo, Duncan, Courtenay, Port Alberni and other Up-Island points, where the idea of a consolidated movement for the advancement of the Island is being enthusiastically promoted.

Bright Outlook Is Forecast for Mining Industry

President of Institute Appeals for Co-operative Spirit Between Management and Labor and More Honest Acceptance of Workers' Right to Live

WINNIPEG, March 14 (CP).—Reinforced by a mass of statistics revealing 1934 as a record year in Canada's mineral industry and armed with a welter of enthusiastic forecasts for the future, members of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy prepared tonight to return to the field, the laboratory and the board room as the thirty-sixth annual meeting concluded.

The third day's session was featured by an appeal from President S. G. Blaylock, vice-president and general manager of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, Trail, for a greater co-operative spirit between management and labor, and a more honest acceptance of the workers' right to live.

Declaring Government labor legislation or State-controlled industry quite inadequate, the president of the institute stressed the need of

DEATH TAKES NOTED ACTOR

Richard B. Harrison Played "De Lawd" in "The Green Pastures"

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP).—Richard B. Harrison, who played "De Lawd" in "The Green Pastures," died today in the Fifth Avenue Hospital. He succumbed to a stroke suffered two weeks ago as he was preparing for a matinee performance of the show. He was seventy years old and was born in London, Ont.

Harrison had appeared in 1,652 performances of the play when stricken, never missing one in its five years' engagement in New York and on the road. Just a few days before his collapse the play had returned to New York to reopen on the fifth anniversary of its premiere performance, which took place February 26, 1930.

WEARY OF TRAVELING
Weary after 40,000 miles of traveling to 303 cities, and troubled by the illness of his wife and daughter, in Chicago, Harrison had stipulated that the New York engagement be limited to three weeks.

He was repeatedly honored for his tender and understanding performance by educational and religious groups.

Harrison is survived by his widow, a daughter, Marian, and a son, Paul Dunbar Harrison, orchestra leader. His home was in Chicago.

Little Left In Estate Of Actress

LOS ANGELES, March 14 (AP).—A trifle more than $1,000 is all that will remain from the original $300,000 estate of the late Marie Dressler, screen character actress and comedienne, if all claims are paid, it was revealed in probate court today.

The actress willed the residue of the estate to her sister, Mrs. Bonita Ganthony, of London, England, who is objecting to the paying of $10,000 for Miss Dressler's funeral on the grounds it is exorbitant and that a "first class peer" in England would consider a $2,500 burial fee a handsome one.

PROVINCE READY TO AID VANCOUVER

where, in the presence of Hon. John Hart, he issued a flat denial of a report in one Mainland paper which had cited a growing objection to governmental policies and forecast a threatened break-up at the provincial capital.

Reading excerpts from the report, the Premier said it was without foundation.

WILL CARRY ON
"I am not resigning. This is a capable Government and we are going to carry on. It is a forward-looking and a safe Government," he declared.

"I have told our municipal members that the Province will do practically everything asked by Vancouver, save permit the postponement of bond interest. As stated, I have asked the Dominion to share with us in assuming the cost of direct relief in Vancouver, and if the Dominion does not do so, we will have to do it alone. The other remedies asked will be given, but we cannot permit postponement of interest," the Premier said.

TO BUILD BRIDGE
"The Fraser River bridge bill was passed by the caucus two weeks ago, when it entered the House. The bridge bill is going through, and you can say with certainty that the bridge will be built."

"We propose to amend the bill to meet the objection of up-country members that the tolls might be lifted. The amendment will provide that the tolls must be put aside into a special fund for sinking fund purposes and cannot be paid out," the Premier concluded.

SOME PLAIN SPEAKING
Discussion of Vancouver matters in the caucus on Tuesday evening are believed to have inspired the Mainland report. It was not denied in circles close to the ministry that plain speaking on Vancouver affairs had been indulged in at the sitting. That there was any effort to break up the Cabinet or to engineer the defeat of the Government on the floor of the House was flatly denied.

From reliable quarters it was learned that the flare-up in caucus, reflected to a minor degree in acerbity in the House on Wednesday, was considered as a passing storm that had cleared the air, and one not likely to lead to repercussions at this time. Liberal members in the House, with two exceptions, subsequently supported Government legislation and policies in the Legislature.

MEMBERS MEET
Meanwhile, at a meeting of most of the Vancouver Liberal members in the Legislature, a letter was drafted to the Vancouver City Council, setting out concurrence with Vancouver requests in principle, so long as the measure and nature of aid sought from the Province did not involve repudiation.

GOLD BACKING EXCEEDS NEEDS

Bank of Canada Issues First Statement—Reserves $108,000,000

OTTAWA, March 14 (CP).—The Bank of Canada has a gold reserve of $106,584,355, according to its first statement made public today. The statement was of assets and liabilities at the end of the first three days' operations. The gold reserve is that turned over by the Department of Finance and the chartered banks. It also has silver bullion and sterling, and United States funds, bringing the total reserves up to $107,965,593.

The gold backing is well above statutory requirements for note circulation and deposits from the Dominion and from chartered banks, which total $254,223,415. The statute requires a ratio of 25 to 100, whereas the ratio shown in the statement was 42.47 to 100.

ISSUE OF NOTES

All issue of notes backed by this gold reserve in future will be in the hands of the Central Bank. During the last year the department of Finance issued about $50,000,000 of new money to cover construction operations. This will not be possible in future. If the Government wishes to put new money into such operations it must borrow it on securities.

The first statement shows that Bank of Canada shareholders have paid up fairly well for their stock. The total paid up capital is $4,991,640, leaving a balance unpaid of $8,360. The delinquent shareholders will be given a month to pay the balances. Otherwise the stock will revert to the bank.

HAS INCOME AT START

The bank already has Dominion Government securities of $149,859,930, turned over to it by the Department of Finance to cover the Dominion notes in circulation. The bank accordingly starts off with an income from the interest on these securities. There was $185,000,000 in Dominion notes out when the bank started.

RECOMMENDS TO DISBAND CADET CORPS

Education Committee of the L.C.C. Says Inconsistent With Spirit of Peace

IRRATIONAL PRUDERY SAYS LONDON TIMES

LONDON, March 14 (CP).—The education committee of the London County Council—of which Labor is now in control—today decided to recommend that the council should disband the cadet corps in the secondary schools. The governors of schools which receive aid from the L.C.C. are also to be invited to fall in line.

This step was taken after an intensive debate. The committee held the training of cadet corps possessed very little educational advantage and was inconsistent with the spirit of peace.

THE OTHER SIDE

Capt. Eric Hall, dissenting, said there was no evidence to show that the cadet corps training had no considerable educational advantage, or that on the present voluntary basis it had any militaristic influence. He believed the cadet corps, on the other hand, was extremely valuable for character building.

"This is not a junior branch of the War Office; it is an education committee," retorted Charles Simpson, the chairman. "We have to consider the matter from the education point of view. Here we have boys who ought to be receiving education in school going out at 9 o'clock in the morning on a field day and returning at 4 o'clock in the afternoon."

ATTRACTED BY BANDS

"These boys of twelve to fifteen, dressed in khaki, carry machine guns borrowed from the territorial units. They are attracted by bands and uniforms. But the other side of the picture—the horror of war—is overlooked."

Captain Hall's amendment was lost. The Times coincidentally comments editorially under the heading "Prigs in Cadet Corps": "If British militarism is corrupting Britain, impeding its contribution to peace, why stop at boys' marching to the band and dressing up? If the ability, voluntarily acquired, to march, drill and shoot breeds warmongers, when will the Labor campaign against all recruiting for the armed forces begin?"

IRRATIONAL PRUDERY

"If anything is a gift to militarism, it is the irrational prudery of the

Merchants Here Are Launching Campaign To Curb Trade Evils

Public to Be Advised of Unfair Practices in Competitive Merchandising—Victoria Committee of Retail Association Taking Hold of Problem

VICTORIA merchants are organizing a campaign with the purpose of bringing to the attention of the purchasing public some of the abuses and unfair practices that have made their way into the competitive system of merchandising.

Arrangements have been made for a meeting of the Victoria committee of the British Columbia board of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, on Monday morning, at the Empress Hotel, at which methods of procedure will be discussed and permanent plans made for the campaign.

HAD GOOD RESULTS

The campaign is a direct result of the visit here, on Wednesday, of a large delegation of merchants from the Mainland, who interviewed the Government with respect to legislation to set up a fair trade board for the province, and also as the result of suggestions made by Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Mines and Labor in the Provincial Government.

The executive committee of the provincial board held a meeting Wednesday evening to review the results of the delegation's conference with the Provincial Cabinet. The members of the executive and delegates at large expressed some disappointment that no definite assurance had been given that the Government would establish the board suggested. They feel that whatever jurisdiction the Government possesses it can control within the province, practices that are indulged in by a few and which are affecting not only the retailer but the employee and the consumer.

It was intimated there should be no hesitancy in the Government appointing a board to which the association can go, that will be clothed with powers of regulating. George R. Matthews, secretary of the British Columbia board, who remained in Victoria to assist the local committee, stated yesterday that he realized the brief submitted to the Government, was presented with difficulty and probably was construed by some and particularly the Premier, as being suggestive of inactivity on the part of the Government. The Premier, however, recognized that great difficulty in the presenting of the case of the merchants.

Mr. Matthews further stated the delegates were perfectly satisfied with the reception accorded them by the members of the Government, thoroughly recognizing it was not the place to expect the Premier to commit his Government.

BOARD NECESSARY

At the banquet on Wednesday evening, Mr. Pearson, representing the Premier, stated he believed the Government would pass enabling legislation, expressing his own opinion the possible good that could be obtained from the establishment of such a board in British Columbia. The delegation considered an expression of a personal opinion, from one with whom the association had worked so closely, was a real indication that one, so close to the needs of the retailers, undoubtedly saw the necessity of the creation of such a board as proposed.

Mr. Matthews further stated it was the belief of the majority of the delegation that Mr. Pearson had made a real contribution to the retailers of the province, when he told them that they had to show, and discharge, their responsibility in correcting evils within their own business, and suggested to them they should endeavor, through publicity, to acquaint the public of some of the facts disclosed by investigations by the executive of the British Columbia board.

REAL CHALLENGE

Mr. Matthews says the significance of that statement was a real challenge to the merchants of the province and, as a result, a meeting of the Victoria committee was held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon to consider in what way these suggestions could be put into practice. Considerable progress was made and it was considered advisable to hold another meeting Monday, at the Empress Hotel.

In connection with some of the local problems, Mr. Matthews said his organization was very interested in immediately bringing about measures that would prevent the slashing of prices on farm produce—in the interests of the producer. The association realizes the need of enlarging the scope of its activities to include protective measures for the producer as well as the retailer.

Immediately on return to Vancouver, the British Columbia executive will meet to further discuss the suggestions by Mr. Pearson, Mr. Matthews intimated.

Miss E. Perry Is Named President Of Authors' Body

Miss Eugenie Perry was last night elected 1935 president of the Victoria Branch of the Canadian Authors' Association at its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. C. d'A. Henderson, 2150 Oak Bay Avenue. Mrs. Nellie McClung was chosen first vice-president, while Mrs. Marion I. Angus was elected second vice-president.

Mrs. Floris McLaren was named secretary and Mrs. C. d'A. Henderson was elected treasurer. The executive committee elected comprises Mrs. E. Ebbes-Canavan, Mrs. Myrtle Lane, C. C. Pemberton, W. Donaldson Smith and Rev. J. P. Hicks.

Reports were presented showing the association to be in fine financial condition. A limerick contest concluded the evening's programme.

LOCAL MOTORISTS TO ENJOY PRIVILEGES WHILE IN ENGLAND

Negotiations have been completed between the Automobile Association of Great Britain and the Victoria Automobile Club whereby members of the latter organization, while residing in England, may join the A.A. on payment of half the regular fee. As pointed out by the local secretary, T. J. Goodlake, membership in the A.A. of Great Britain is very advantageous to motorists while in England.

All members of the Victoria Automobile Club are entitled to display on their machines modified forms of the A.A. badge. The club has recently ordered a supply of these badges.

Victoria Unit of League Opposing War Formed Here

Preliminary steps were taken at a meeting here last night for the formation of a Victoria branch of the Canadian League Against War and Fascism, and plans for complete organization will be advanced at a subsequent meeting.

The meeting was arranged by delegates from various city organizations and the decision to form a Victoria unit was fully supported by all delegates.

Prior to the resolution to organize the unit, delegates listened to addresses by E. Foley, representing the Vancouver branch, who outlined the aims and objects of the movement; Rev. Gerald B. Switzer, who spoke on war, and T. Guy Sheppard, who discussed the various phases of war and the results of Fascism. Rev. C. G. MacKenzie was chairman.

"Mother, have I been a good boy lately?" "Yes, Bobby, you have been a very good boy." "And do you trust me, mother?" "Why, of course I trust you, son." "Then why do you go on hiding the jam?"

ACTRESS GETS MANY APPEALS

Mae West's Reputation for Charity Brings Her Some Strange Requests

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 14 (AP).—Mae West knows how Santa Claus feels.

The blonde film star gets as many letters requesting gifts as she does, only they come to her every day. Along with the customary pleas for autographed pictures, the mailman today brought her from—

Canada—"I need $2,750 to modernize my printing plant. They tell me you are a charitable person, so I am asking you." Miss West withheld the name of the town, because the writer said: "It's a small place and everyone would find out about it."

Omaha, Neb.—"I need $10 to buy a sweepstakes ticket. I'll send you $1,000 if I win."

Danville, Ill.—Would you please write a signed article for our high school paper; circulation is not as good as it might be."

Boston—"Under separate cover we are sending you one of our new corsets. We would appreciate an endorsement."

Phoenix, Ariz.—"All I want is five minutes of your spare time."

SAYS LOYALTY TO CHURCH NEED IN TIMES OF STRESS

It was the duty of every loyal Christian to stand by the church during times of economic and social stress, said Mrs. Nellie McClung in an address delivered last night at the Metropolitan United Church at a dinner held to mark the seventy-sixth anniversary of the church here.

The dinner was held under the direction of the Ladies' Aid, of which Mrs. J. T. Williams is president. Rev. E. F. Church, pastor of Metropolitan Church, presided. Mrs. McClung was introduced by W. E. Harper.

John Bray, baritone; Miss Janet Hay, soprano; Chris Miller, violinist; James Oakman, tenor, and Miss M. Daniels, accompanist, provided the enjoyable musical programme.

The jury had been out on the case all morning, and was still undecided. The vote stood eleven to one for acquittal, but one codger stubbornly held out for a verdict of guilty.

The sheriff came in at dinner time and inquired what they would have to eat. "Wa-a-l-l," said the foreman, disgustedly, "you kin bring us eleven dinners." Then he added, reflectively, "and a bale of hay."

ASSESSMENT BODY MOOTED

Municipal Affairs Committee Favors Creation of Provincial Board

Formation of a provincial assessment commission will be recommended to the Government by the municipal affairs committee of the Legislature, following active endorsement of that policy at a meeting held yesterday morning.

The suggestion was one proposed originally by Robert Baird, deputy minister of municipal affairs, as a means of straightening out tangled assessments in British Columbia municipal areas, on which are based government grants and many other matters.

The committee discussed "actual value" definitions as applicable to municipal property and has left action under this head to a sub-committee.

Difficulty of fixing actual value for land when no market exists for property at present has held up any definite effort to change existing municipal laws on the subject. It is not known what solution the committee may propose.

CONCERT OF THE POWERS

Sir John Simon and Mr. Anthony Eden, on behalf of the British Government, are to visit Berlin before the end of the present month to discuss measures for the peace of Europe. This visit is the outcome of the proposals contained in the Anglo-French communique of February 3, which is the starting point of new diplomatic negotiations whereby, through a concert of the Powers, much is hoped for in clearing up some of Europe's outstanding problems.

The German attitude is that there should be an exhaustive examination of the entire complex, an examination to be carried out in the spirit of a desire for peace with a guarantee for the security of Germany. Herr Hitler is favorable to the air convention proposed. Out of the conversations to take place the hope is entertained that Germany will be induced to return to Geneva, but she will do so only on the basis of equality of rights. If, however, she is to be an equal partner in the concert of Powers, now in contemplation for the keeping of the peace of Europe, it follows that the Treaty of Versailles, so far as it restricts Germany's actions in dictating her own measures for national security, will become a dead letter. That consideration is regarded as a natural sequence to the conversations in Berlin.

The outstanding international event of the moment is that Germany is about to be offered equal participation in a European system. In other words, she is to be welcomed once again as an equal partner in the hegemony of the nations.
It is realized that the first definite step towards cementing European peace must be taken at Berlin; the second must be taken in Moscow. It seems to be an essential of a European settlement that Germany should be received back into the League, and under her present Government that course is only possible on her own terms. For the moment the matter rests there. Most assuredly, however, the negotiations now in progress offer a better hope for peace than anything yet done by the League of Nations.

LIQUOR CONTROL ACT

There is a very substantial body of public opinion that believes that there are amendments possible to the Liquor Control Act which would redound to the advantage of that measure, and at the same time place British Columbia more in line with practice on the rest of the Continent.
It has been claimed for a long time that the legislation on the subject which prevails in Quebec is the best of its kind in North America. That is probably true, and the only major difference between the Quebec law and that in this province is that beer and light wines are permitted to be sold in Quebec in hotels and with meals in restaurants. This provision has practically obviated both secret drinking and the consumption of alcoholic beverages in hotel bedrooms, and in other ways surreptitiously at dances and entertainments.

The present incidence of the Liquor Control Act in this province is not all that it should be, for the morals of young people especially. The law in Quebec is saner. The same law might well prevail here, and that it should be all the more important because of the fact that it does prevail to such a large extent throughout the American states. That is an argument that cannot be overlooked by any community which is endeavoring to encourage the tourist traffic. Visitors from the American side, and it is to these visitors and Vancouver Island, as well as the rest of the province, have to look rather than elsewhere, expect to find on this side of the line at least equal privileges to those they enjoy at home. To the extent that those privileges are not available the flow of tourists will necessarily decline. That may not be the strongest argument in favor of the Quebec law being introduced in this province, but at least it is an evidence showing one respect where in British Columbia is not in line with other centres which also rely to an extent on the tourist trade.

There is much harm ensuing now through secret drinking by youth. That is a problem which, in the interest of the morale of the coming generations, should be solved. Since there is liquor control, it should operate in such a way as not to encourage surreptitious drinking. One definite plan is to allow beer and light wines to be consumed with meals, as is the case in Quebec, in other provinces of the Dominion and in the United States. This is a matter to which the Government and the Legislature could well give specific attention when, during the present session, amendments are proposed to the Liquor Control Act.

A SENSE OF PROPORTION

The Christian Science Monitor holds a deservedly high place among American newspapers, and indeed throughout the English-speaking world. A few days ago it contained an article dealing with the attitude of Canadian youth towards their American contemporaries. During last year, it appears, a survey was made of youthful Canadian opinion and sentiment towards our American neighbors. The opinions and sentiments disclosed were those of high school boys and girls of about sixteen years of age, a circumstance which must be kept clearly in mind. The value of such testimony can be overestimated and it can be underestimated just as easily.

Everyone will agree that a friendly feeling in the breasts of young Canadians towards their nearest neighbors is at once pleasing and highly significant, in that it augurs well for future international relations on this continent. An inquiry into youthful sentiment across the border would probably reveal a similar state of mind in the Northern row of States. In the absence of statistics it is hazardous to express any definite opinion concerning the likes and dislikes of young Americans south of the Northern row of States.

There may be tens of millions of school boys whose knowledge of or interest in Canada is very slight indeed.

With the best intentions in the world, no doubt,
The Monitor in reporting the results of this investigation conveyed the impression that the youth of Canada have revealed an attitude of greater friendliness towards the United States than to their own people in other parts of the Empire. In the opinion of The Monitor this attitude will at once be a matter of astonishment to Americans and "a source of much chagrin" to the Old Country. The headlines, the distribution of emphasis in the body of the article, the generous amount of space devoted to certain features of the survey, the strict subordination of other aspects of the case make it pretty clear that The Monitor is not ill-pleased with the notion that American numbers, commerce, wealth, motion pictures, and radio, along with the bulk and physical contiguity of the big republic are so impressive in the mind of Canadian youth as to place the British Empire in a condition of eclipse.

To illustrate the truth that a statement may contain no single error of fact and yet by stress of emphasis convey an erroneous impression as a whole it is sufficient to say that over 90 per cent of the article in question deals with those matters in which our young people have expressed admiration for things distinctly American. The fact that nearly two-thirds of the Canadian students were of opinion that Canada is much superior to her neighbor in her administration of law and justice, in control of crime, in her banking system and in her form of government, and the further fact that one-fourth of the persons questioned refused to admit that the United States excelled in anything were dismissed in a few words.

Much as Canadians admire their American cousins, and much as they desire to maintain the friendliest relations, political, social, and personal, with their good neighbors, it is nevertheless clear that nothing is to be gained by disproportionate emphasis upon this or that factor in the relations between the two countries. Young Canada shows its good sense in admiring American energy, achievement and resourcefulness. Canadians can admire their neighbors and at the same time cherish a lively sense of the value of their own institutions and culture, and of the Imperial connection.

TONIGHT'S MEETING

The Vancouver Island Tourist Trade Development Association will, in a public way, make its bow to the people of Victoria and adjacent municipalities at the mass-meeting to be held at the Royal Victoria Theatre this evening. It has already done a good deal of spade work. It has enlisted the support of citizens of every type and predilection and has confirmed the idea, which has prevailed for so long, that if Victoria wishes to increase its tourist-trade and to hold visitors who come here, some methods of attraction and recreation must be found for them. There is an excellent programme in the making towards this end. It will be explained at tonight's meeting.
There should be a full attendance. The greater the popular support accorded a programme designed to benefit this community and Vancouver Island as a whole the better will be the chance of success attending the efforts of those who are working so whole-heartedly with this purpose in view.

SUCCESS

There are thousands of men to whom immediate success rarely comes; they are met by constant failures and disappointments; they struggle with scant reward and scant recognition from the world. The sweets of success are never theirs; the struggle, the labor, and the long-deferred hope are their daily experience.
Such men may not miss the crowning of life; it may be theirs to pluck from failure the immediate flower of noble character.—H. W. Mabie.

To Nature's teachings.—Bryant.

Where Nature is sovereign, there is no need of austerity and self-denial.—Froude.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

The most sublime pain that can be heard on this earth is the crying of a human soul from the lips of childhood.—
Hugo.

Although Parliament and Legislatures and Congresses are busy making history, and notwithstanding the fact that so many wild men are engaged in the big job of helping representative bodies to make history, the most popular topic of the day is not politics; it is what shall be done by the Dionne babies. Everybody has read the short but (we suppose) noisy history of the celebrated quintuplets.
If there had been but one baby the papers would have said nothing about it and the people would have read nothing about it. Which is an instance of the magic of numbers.

The history of the now celebrated Dionne family, according to such information as we possess, is that previous to the almost miraculous birth the family was "on relief."
Its possessions were meagre, and no sufficient preparation had been made for the advent of the tiny pilgrims to a strange land. Dr.
Dafoe was the physician in ordinary to the whole northern country side. The good doctor was called in and performed a miracle which by universal agreement was more marvellous than parenthood. He saved the lives of the whole five and preserved the life of the mother. News of the momentous event was heralded throughout all Canada and the whole of the world.
The hearts of all the people were touched. Even the hearts of the members of the Ontario Government, notwithstanding the hardening influence of politics, were affected by the news. The kind-hearted members of the immediate northern community made what provision they could for the comforts and necessities of the little strangers, and the Government appears to have made provision for their future. A special hospital with all modern conveniences and necessities was built for the accommodation of the little guests, and special nurses were engaged to look after them during the most critical period of their infancy. If these things had not been done the lives of the babies might have been brief, notwithstanding what Dr. Dafoe has written about their wonderful vitality.

When the news of the miraculous birth became noised abroad, of course the class of people who make a specialty and a rich living out of digging up human and animal curiosities and showing them either on the screen or in life read and hope to profit by it. Then the rights of parenthood came up for discussion. Father Dionne actually signed a contract with a movie promoter to exhibit the children at the Chicago Fair. The Government intervened and declared that the terms of the contract could not be fulfilled without endangering the lives of the babies, then not very long born. That was an arbitrary act, and maybe could not be legally justified. But if the screen agents could not exhibit the children, they did succeed in showing off the father and mother, but probably not with the financial results anticipated. The Dionne parents are just ordinary specimens of the French-Canadian race; not particularly attractive physically or highly endowed mentally, but strong and healthy and with a keen appreciation of the value of money.

The present circumstances in connection with the history of the quintuplets is that they are the wards of the Ontario Government, and that through the Government and private munificence an endowment fund has been established for their present and future benefit.
We do not know whether the endowment fund has anything to do with the case, but Father Dionne has made an emotional claim that no earthly institution has the power to separate a father from his children or to deprive a daughter of the loving care and the tender ministra-tions of a mother. We notice that some of our sentimental contemporaries have been saying that the point of M. Dionne has been well taken and cannot be legitimately gained. It may seem a high-handed act to separate a family, but, on the other hand, it seems to be a fact that Pere Dionne did not seem to be particularly interested in his offspring until he began to realize, after an interview with the movie men, that they could be exploited to his pecuniary advantage.
Again, cupidity may have been stimulated by thought of that handsome endowment fund.

If the thoughts of the father of the quintuplets could be read the truth might be revealed that the mind of the man has been poisoned insidiously by the promoters of the pictures. The endowment fund is locked up securely. None but the guardians of the babies can touch it; but that fund may have been represented as insignificant compared with the fabulous amounts which might be gained by exhibiting them.

ing to a gaping multitude in the United States a completely united family—and none but the hereditary guardian of the children could touch that. The common sense view of the matter is that the father who could not provide for a family without the assistance of the state cannot complain if the state formulates the conditions under which it will maintain that family.

Constance Skinner, Poetess, Has Fame In United States

By VERNON TIMBERLEY

In New York there lives a Canadian writer whose grandparents were early settlers in Victoria, and whose grandfather, Thomas Skinner, was a member of the first Legislative Council. He lived at Constance Cove, Esquimalt. Constance Lindsay Skinner looks upon Constance Cove as "my godmother."
Apart from her regular writing, which includes novels, poems and books of a historical nature, Miss Skinner does a considerable amount of book reviewing for The New York Herald-Tribune.

As is so often the case, Miss Skinner's writings are well known and highly thought of outside her own country. In England, France and the United States she has poems "Songs of the Coast Dwellers" commanded high praise from many important critics. Of this book the late John Galsworthy said: "After reading them one feels that sophistication is the ruin of poetry; one almost feels that civilization, as we practice it, is the death of beauty.
What can be more moving than "Song of Whiplashing," "Song of the Young" and "The Change Song?" Miss Harriet Monroe, editor of Poetry, Chicago, awarded a prize several years ago for a group of Miss Skinner's poems, and her poem "The Song of Cradle-Making" won first prize of twenty-one guineas in a contest held by The London Bookman.

"Songs of the Coast Dwellers" was published in 1930 in the United States and was practically ignored in Canada. In her foreword to this, her most important book, Miss Skinner tells us that "My 'Songs of the Coast Dwellers' are not translations nor adaptations of Indian poems;
nor were they suggested by Indian poems, for I made no study of Indian poetry when I began to write them."

While she says that "The inspiration of these songs is chiefly the Coast of British Columbia," Miss Skinner had mainly in mind the Squamish Indians across from Vancouver on the Burrard Inlet. In fact, she has had articles "discussing the Squamish theory of rhythms and my own experiments in imitation of nature rhythms" in The New York Times and in Reddy's Mirror.

Miss Skinner has written two volumes of history for "The Chronicles of America Series," called "Pioneers of the Old Southwest" and "Adventurers in Oregon." At eleven years of age she was the author of a still unpublished novel. At fourteen she wrote and produced a three-act opera, and at sixteen she became a special writer for several Canadian newspapers. Two years later Miss Skinner became a reporter on The San Francisco Examiner, and later worked on The Chicago American.

Her first novel was called "Builder of Men" and was published in 1913 in Germany only. Among her writings are five books for young people, including "Roelle of the North,"
"Ranch of the Golden Flower" and "Red Man's Luck." She has written two other novels, "The Search Relentless" and "Red Willows." In 1933 her publishers brought out a book which she called "Beaver, Kings and Cabins," illustrated by Laford Kihn. Miss Skinner has a large following of readers in the United States, where she is acknowledged as an authority on early American Indian and frontier history.

The fat man was trying to find some tropical clothes in the Far South resort. He tried almost every store in town, and patient clerks had politely made a pretence of looking over their stocks and advising him they were just out of his size. Finally he ran across a clerk more truthful than diplomatic, who after looking him over, said:
"Frankly, mister, we carry nothing in stock that would fit you except collar buttons and handkerchiefs."

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of March 15, 1885)

Park Pasture—It was the general complaint last Sunday at Beacon Hill that the place was being utilized too much as a grazing ground. There could have been no less than twenty cows roaming around the hill, rendering it very unpleasant. As we understand the city authorities have control over the park it would be a benefit to every citizen and visitor if they would prohibit the park from being made a dairy farm by impounding all strayed animals. It has been the habit of a number of people to regard Beacon Hill as a public grazing ground, and they have systematically made it such. It is too pleasant a place to be degraded for such a purpose.

New Directory—The new directory of the Province of British Columbia has just been issued by R. T. Williams, publisher and bookbinder. The book is well bound in cloth, printed on heavy paper, and is handsomely prepared.
Every city, village and district of the Province has received attention, and the information is complete and accurate. The list of names has increased nearly one thousand since the previous issue. The information given of the various portions of the Province makes it a most valuable publication, and has a great value. The price is $1.50, and we would recommend that every citizen invest in a copy, for it makes a most reliable and valuable book of general reference.

Letters to the Editor

No letter to the Editor will be inserted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 300 words in length.

JAWBONES

Sir—In your issue of March 5, your "Book" shows an archway made from the jawbones of a whale at a place in the Scottish Isles. There was a similar gateway of a whale's jawbones on the Wakefield Road, about nine miles from Leeds. When I knew it, over fifty years ago, it had been there a long time, and I presume it is there yet.

EDWARD LEAHY.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

Sir—I sincerely trust that we will be successful this year in bringing this great advantage into being and put Victoria in line with the more progressive cities in the East. Mr.
Archibell's three reasons for daylight saving: "Health, economy and recreation" are well taken. It means a change of hundreds of hours of thousands of dollars saving in public and private lighting—certainly a consideration these days, especially to the working man.

For the thousands of shut-in-store and office employees, daylight saving is one of the greatest blessings devised by progress, and means hundreds of hours of extra health, vigor and sunlight.
In most European countries daylight saving is considered such a definite advantage from the standpoint of health and economy to the masses that it has become statutory law. Whether one's hobbies are gardening, golfing, tennis, bowling, or just working around home, it will be found more profitable and healthier to do it by daylight.

LIGHT WINES AND BEER

Sir—This is a subject in which I am keenly interested, as I am strongly opposed to the launching of young people into the temptations of a social life where the whisky bottle appears necessary to their entertainment.
When I was young we drank wine if we wanted it with our elders at the family table, with our food, as people do in all civilized countries.
Here, under our present system, where we are denied the use of wine and beer at public meals, the custom is to take a bottle of whisky to a bedroom and consume it in one sitting, to the great harm of those indulging in the custom. Such a form of drinking leads naturally to intoxication.

Cannot we arrive at some reasonable method whereby light wines and beer may be made available to the public in respectable public dining-rooms at reasonable prices as in other countries?
Any reasonable-thinking person knows that we could remove much of the present degrading influences and temptations met by our young people by the above means.

States Agitators Only Blacklisted In Relief Camps

Major-General E. C. Ashton Answers Criticisms Made Against System of Handling Unemployed Men—Educational Classes Start—Strict Medical Inspection—Food Is Wholesome

IN what he termed a "few, frank statements of our work," Major-General E. C. Ashton, district officer commanding Military District No. 11, who is in charge of single unemployed relief camps in the Province, yesterday, at the Rotary Club luncheon at the Empress Hotel, answered criticisms of camps and the system of handling men.

At the same time he made an earnest appeal for club members to send used playing cards, books, magazines, games, puzzles, radios and gramophones and records to the various camps.

Referring to the so-called and much-talked-about blacklists, General Ashton explained that men were not discharged from camps without serious consideration by officials. Agitators were the only ones that were discharged, he said, and agitators were time and time again reinstated, but their influence with the men proved dangerous to general efficiency.

TRAIN AGITATORS

General Ashton went on to say that a school was being conducted in Vancouver where men were being trained as agitators and then sent out to the camps to undermine them. Since recently discharging from Otter Point camp three men who were believed agitators, as they bullied and talked young men into refusing to work on the roads, peace and men, the speaker continued. The men work eight hours a day on Federal road and bridge construction schemes, but they were not repair gangs, he explained, and went on to say that work was not carried on in inclement weather, even brief morning showers causing postponement of work. In addition to their food and tobacco allowance, the men were given twenty cents a day to cover personal necessities.

Certain criticism had been made against food rations at the camps, General Ashton said, and he contended that the rations were good and were similar to the army's, and the best that could be provided with the money available.

DAWLEY TRIAL IS CONTINUING

Inspector Vance, Noted Criminologist, Will Testify in Case Today

The trial of Clifford Dawley on the second charge, that of breaking and entering the Dominion Theatre on January 18 for the purpose of committing theft, is still in progress, occupying the whole of yesterday in the Assize Court here.

The Crown's case under M. B. Jackson, K.C., has been brought up close to the point when Inspector J. P. C. Vance, well-known criminologist of Vancouver, will testify.

SIMILAR EVIDENCE
The evidence of the police, offered yesterday, was similar to that given at the preliminary hearing and also in part that heard in the other charge against Dawley on Wednesday.

The finding of part of a button which Clifford E. Denham, manager of the theatre, turned over to the police was offered in evidence together with the finding later by the police of other parts of a button outside the window that was broken when the attempt was made to enter the theatre on the morning of January 18. These were all turned over to Inspector Vance and will form part of the evidence to be offered by that official today.

DETECTIVES TESTIFY

Testimony by Detective H. F. Jarvis and Detective Fearon Woodburn, who had made the arrest of the accused a few days after the alleged breaking and entering, occupied a large part of the afternoon yesterday.

The jury is composed of Edwin Floyer (foreman), William S. Oliver, Harry Gibbard, Hugh S. Noble, Herbert Motterhead, Walter J. Fletcher, George Exley, Charles R. V. Bagshawe, Robert O. Lamb, Fred Rushworth, Jeremiah O'Donovan and Allen G. Jacques.

Court will resume at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

HOPE FOR KEEPING THE SPIRIT ALIVE

Naval Treaty, limiting capital ships, or the London Treaty limiting small vessels, both of which instruments expire on December 31, 1936.

THE IDEAL CONFERENCE
An "ideal" naval conference, Sir Bolton continued, would establish an equilibrium for defence among the naval powers, whereby no power would be in a position easily to become an aggressor.

Britain, while recognizing that some form of quantitative limitation (by total tonnage) was necessary, attached the greatest importance to qualitative limitation (by sizes of classes and guns), Sir Bolton said.

He emphasized that the United Kingdom could not reduce the number of its naval vessels any further, but was anxious to get a joint international agreement for reduction of the sizes of vessel in the various classes.

MIGHT FIX MAXIMUM
Sir Bolton said he thought the maximum for all future cruisers might be fixed at 7,000 tons, and their guns limited to six-inch.

The naval estimates total £60,050,000 ($291,843,000 at par), which is an increase over last year of £3,500,000 ($17,010,000). The increase is mainly for repairs and modernization of capital ships with a view to lengthening their service. The building programme is the normal replacement programme under the treaties, including three 9,000-ton six-inch gun cruisers and smaller vessels.

The First Lord assailed the Labor Party for "trying to make the electorate think this Government is a war-mongering Government," saying this is "the most senseless, groundless and base charge ever made by a political party against its country."

LABOR CHARGES

George Hall, Labor member, charging the Admiralty with "torpedoing the Disarmament Conference," and shattering any prospects of a conference with the United States and Japan, asked Sir Bolton whether "the fact of the putting down of the naval base at Singapore had something to do with the Japanese Government's denouncing the Washington agreement?"

The head of the Admiralty promptly answered: "Nothing whatsoever."

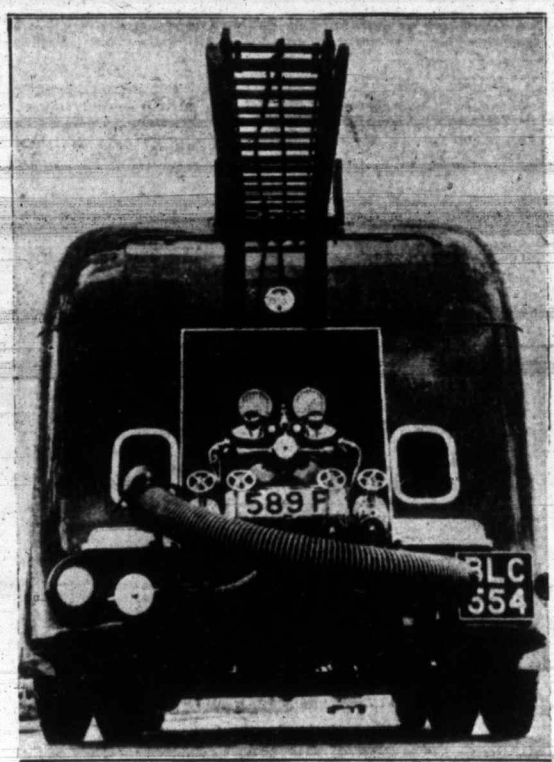

Lady Astor figured in an exchange with John Wilmot, another Labor member, as the debate progressed.

When she interrupted him, Wilmot suggested she "make an exception of this evening and control yourself a little."

"Don't be rude!" Lady Astor yelled back.

But Wilmot had the last word with "It's her continual running fire of comment that irritates the House."

Fire Reels Go Streamline

The London, England, Fire Department has just been equipped with a new type streamlined fire-fighting engine which is a new departure in fire-fighting apparatus. The body of this machine is entirely enclosed, so that the driver and crew have full protection in case of bad weather. The above shows the high pressure pump outlets in the back of the engine.

(Liberal, Skeena), adjourned debate on the issue.

PROGRESS ON BILLS
The House spent a routine day on bills in committee stages, before adjournment at 4:45 p.m. Solid progress was made on legislation, touching little new ground in debate.

Attorney-General Sloan rose on a point of privilege to state that a feature article, with pictures, on the Carr-Gisborne murder cases, in an Eastern Canada detective story magazine, had been published without any knowledge or authority from the Provincial Police. Dramatization of crime had never been welcomed in Canada and he trusted the day would not come when the public showed any change of view in that respect. Applause greeted the remark.

GAME LAWS

The House dealt with clauses in the Consolidated Game Act, under which British Columbia firearm fees will be reduced by 50c each. Game and angling licences are to be continued. Shooting after sundown remains an offence. Game wardens and Provincial Police officers may arrest persons without written warrant for game offences, and farmers under certain conditions, may kill deer for food. There are eighty-odd sections in the bill.

Amendments to the Public Inquiries Act, which would authorize payment of public inquiry costs out of consolidated revenue, without use of special warrant procedure, were held up when it was suggested that the same provision already existed in an amended Revenue Act. The bill remains in committee stage while this point is being checked.

Amendments to the Metalliferous Mines Regulation Act were reported complete in committee.

ISSUES SPEEDED

R. H. Pooley, K.C. (Esquimalt), commented at one point that faster progress was being made on legislation than he had remembered in twenty-four years' experience in the House. He suggested ministerial explanation of amended clauses in bills offered, and at one point congratulated the ministry on proposed change in the Adoption of Children Act.

The hairdressers' bill was referred by the House to the committee on private bills, for review. The House adjourned until 2:30 p.m. today.

SAYS GRAFT MADE FROM POSTOFFICE

Former Postmaster-General Charges Fortunes Made by Sale of Stamps

POLICY IS NOT IN PUBLIC'S INTEREST

OTTAWA, March 14 (CP).—The Federal Treasury has lost revenue and friends of the Government have made fortunes through an agency selling used postage stamps to collectors, it was charged tonight in the House of Commons by Mr. Peter Veniot, former Postmaster-General. The agency was opened in 1932.

"I am not blaming the minister," said Mr. Veniot, "but the policy adopted by the Government of running this department not in the interests of the public but of certain friends who are making graft out of the postoffice."

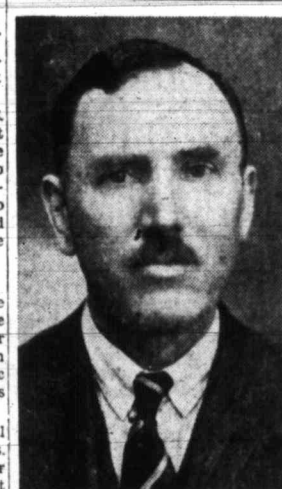

Postmaster-General A. G. Sauve said he did not know what Mr. Veniot was talking about, but would investigate.

SOLD BY AGENCY

Up to 1932, said Mr. Veniot, used stamps were sold to philatelists by the department itself. Since then, the agency has sold the stamps, pocketing the money. He claimed "large fortunes" had been made by the agency, "providing immense profits to those fortunate enough to be friends of the Government and to be able to get hold of them (the stamps)."

The Postoffice vote of $30,000,000 passed the House of Commons tonight. The minister, never known for loquaciousness, angered Mr. Veniot two or three times with his replies, but harmony reigned most of the time. Once, Mr. Veniot reminded Conservatives that when he was Postmaster-General, his estimate

NEW MONTANA HIGHWAY EXPECTED TO ATTRACT HUNDREDS OF VISITORS

Businessmen of the Pacific Northwest look forward with great expectations to the opening of the newly-constructed Central Montana Highway, that is expected to bring an increased number of tourists from the Middle States, it was gathered in an interview yesterday with W. A. Connacher, proprietor of the Garfield Hotel, in Jordan, Montana, who is staying at the Empress Hotel.

The new highway shortens the route through Montana, from east to west, by 140 miles.

Mr. Connacher, who is also associated with the Northwest Airlines, using large passenger planes from St. Paul to Seattle, explained the number of people becoming air-minded and preferring airplane travel to train or bus was increasing at an astonishing rate.

CITY POLICE COSTS JUMP

Estimates of $101,867 for 1935 Are Slightly Over Last Year's Vote

Showing a slight increase over last year, 1935 estimates for the Victoria Police Department, amounting to $101,867.52, were approved by the police commission at a special camera meeting yesterday. Estimates provide for the purchase of a new motorcycle and a second-hand automobile, as recommended by Chief Thomas Heatley.

Original estimates amounted to $102,817.52, but were pared by $950. With little comment, the board rejected a proposal that allowances to cover telephone rates be granted to every member of the force.

NEW CONSTABLE

Alexander John Briggs was appointed probationary constable for six months on recommendation of the chief. His appointment brings the force up to full strength. Edwin Sturrock was appointed following the resignations of Detective Charles Gremer and the late Constable Henry Jones. Commissioners ordered a letter of condolence sent to Mrs. Jones, whose husband died on Wednesday in Jubilee Hospital.

SCHOOL TELEPHONES

Constables on night patrol of the districts of Victoria will, in future, make periodical reports to police headquarters through telephones recently installed in city public schools. It was decided at the meeting. The department will share the cost of the telephones with the school board. Besides making reports from the various schools, officers will safeguard the buildings.

Chief Heatley explained the automobile was needed to replace the present prowler car, that had traveled some 79,000 miles and was inadequate for its purpose. He said he would purchase a second-hand car in good condition. The chief pointed out that prowler cars were useful in patrolling residential areas.

POLICE SEIZE FILM MADE IN VICTORIA

P. Keen, president of the Northern Film Company, Ltd., was questioned over the telephone at Vancouver, was unaware of the seizure and could not explain the reason for seizure. Ken Bishop, managing director of the company, could not be reached last night.

It was learned from the Moving Picture Censor's Department that the seizure was as a result of complaints made by the Chinese consul, who objected to the tenor of the story as putting his countrymen in an objectionable light before the public. On application of Mr. Smith to the Attorney-General's Department, a seizure warrant was issued and on this the Provincial Police acted. The films were removed to Vancouver, where they will be in custody of the Moving Picture Censor's Department.

SMUGGLING STORY

The story was written by Guy Morton, a well-known Eastern Canadian writer, and former member of the Ottawa Press Gallery. The locale is laid in Vancouver, and the action of the story centres on the efforts of police to track a Chinese opium smuggler. It develops into a mystifying battle of wits between a criminologist and an astute Oriental, wherein the forces of law and order eventually triumph, but only after many thrilling episodes and the mysterious disappearance of several of the minor characters in the police drama.

The objection of the Chinese consul, it was intimated, was based on the belief that the film, as exhibited here, would hold his countrymen up to ridicule and contempt.

Scott for the sale of twenty-two lots for $4,000, which was made to the Oak Bay Council at yesterday's meeting, was allowed to stand without any action being taken. ## DYNAMITERS ARE BEATEN

Kimberley Loses Second Fixture of Allan Cup Playdowns

EDMONTON, March 14 (CP).—Edmonton Superiors defeated Kimberley Dynamiters, 3-1, here tonight, to regain even status in the Alberta-British Columbia series of the Allan Cup playdowns.

Dynamiters won the first game Tuesday night, in Calgary, also 3-1. The deciding game is being played here tomorrow night. It was only a fair brand of hockey dished up tonight. Mild weather of the past few days apparently had left its mark. Each team scored in the first period, and the next rubber found tied in the seventh minute of the third session, when Buster Brown slapped one in to the credit of the soops. "Shorts" Purcell banged another one home eleven minutes later, on a pass from Jimmy Anderson.

There were only five penalties during the game. Close to 3,000 fans were in the arena.

SPEAKER TELLS USE OF PRESS

B. C. Nicholas Discusses Relationship of Newspaper to Modern World

In a talk on "The Press and the Modern World," delivered to the Victoria West Community Forum in Victoria West United Church last evening, B. C. Nicholas traced the beginning of newspapers from early days to the present.

"If we had Fascism, Hitlerism or Communism in Canada, there would be no free press. There would be no agencies through which the people could express their will, and English-speaking persons will never permit this," Mr. Nicholas stated. He described the change from small hand presses to huge rotary machines which turn out a whole issue of a paper in an hour, and told how world news was collected by associations, such as Reuters, Associated Press, United Press and Canadian Press. Radio transmission of printed material and pictures from Europe to Canada was also described.

League of Nations
Mr. Nicholas asserted that newspapers, before the Great War, had an opportunity of settling international difficulties, but refrained from promoting "peace consciousness." He said that 75 per cent of international matters people were familiar with today were unknown before the Great War. Most of this had been accomplished by the League of Nations.

The power of the press is mostly potential. It is subject to public opinion and cannot mislead that opinion for long," the speaker remarked. "Public opinion is the most powerful thing on earth when it is educated and enlightened, but there is more power in the schoolhouse than there is in a great metropolitan daily," he added.

WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

Mr. Nicholas said the small weekly newspaper had a greater influence upon its readers than a large city journal. He put this down to the fact that those in the country read their papers more fully, had more time to read, and thus saw matters in a clearer light.

The tendency of modern papers is to be too large. They are not sufficiently condensed for the modern, busy reader. A good newspaper should carry all the news that is fit to print and should editorially treat all news in an honest, fearless and independent manner," Mr. Nicholas concluded. He was tendered a hearty vote of thanks, on behalf of these present, by Rev. W. R. Brown.

FOUND DEAD IN HOME

WINDSOR, Ont., March 14 (CP).—Mrs. William Costello Kennedy, fifty-seven, wife of the former Minister of Railways in the Liberal Government of Rt. Hon. W. L. Markzeine King in 1921, was found dead in her home here tonight. Death was from natural causes.

His Worship has been asked to deliver talks in these cities upon tourist attractions of Victoria and Vancouver Island and will leave with several reels of film of Island scenery. He will also speak at several Kiwanis Club meetings in Montana cities.

From Montana, Mayor Leeming will fly to Chicago by United Air Lines. He will entrain there for Montreal, where he expects to arrive on March 24 to take part in the municipal conference dealing with civic problems.

The relationship between provincial and municipal governments and the Dominion Government will be discussed in an effort to straighten out financial problems.

NO INCREASE IN POLICE ESTIMATE

Esquimalt Department Requires $6,300 for 1935 Work—Report Presented

No increase in the appropriation for police protection for 1935 as against last year was recorded in the estimates approved last night by the Esquimalt Police Commission. The commission estimated the 1935 expenditure at $6,300.

Last year the commission estimated the same amount, but spent only $5,985. Major items in the estimates include $4,035 for salaries of all police executives including officers, police-court attendants and sundry expenses and $1,000 for general upkeep.

In his February statement, Chief W. H. V. Pecknold reported 112 complaints had been attended and $117.50 collected from all sources.

ENDORSES PLAN OF INTEREST CUTTING

An amendment will be sought to halt the action pending against Alderman H. J. DeGraves for penalties incurred for sitting as an alderman last year while under technical property disqualification.
Alderman A. G. Harvey asked what the council proposed to do about the proposal of Thomas Bradshaw, Toronto financial expert, that the city float a $5,000,000 loan to meet the bank loans for capital purposes.
Mayor G. G. McGeer replied he was certain citizens would invest $1,500,000 for capital purposes, but would not buy a $5,000,000 issue to liquidate a loan and which promised no "work and wages" scheme.
DEAL WITH BANKS
The mayor believed the Ontario Government had covered a bank loan with a bond issue at a lower interest rate and that the banks had bought the issue. He said he thought Vancouver could take similar steps.
"We need sewers, water services, parks, beaches and all kinds of things," said the mayor. "We could easily spend $20,000,000. But all we ask for now is $1,500,000 for work and wages instead of the dole. The theory that we are protected against over-expenditures by a vote of the people is pure bunkum. That has been shown in the past."

Mrs. William Ellis Is New Regent of Municipal Chapter

Year of Splendid Progress in All Branches of I.O.D.E. Recorded at Annual Meeting—One New Chapter Organized During Year

MRS. William Ellis, regent of the Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter I.O.D.E., was elected regent of Victoria Municipal Chapter at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon at the Victoria Truth Centre, Fort Street.

The other officers were chosen as follows: First vice-regent, Mrs. Kyle Symons; second vice-regent, Mrs. Walter Nichol; secretary, Mrs. H. W. Davey; treasurer, Mrs. H. K. Prior; educational secretary, Mrs. P. Beckett; Echoes secretary, Mrs. P. R. Wright; organizing secretary, Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps; and standard-bearer, Mrs. R. Shanks.

In her address as regent, Mrs. L. A. Genge paid a glowing tribute to the officers of the chapter, among whom Miss A. B. Cooke, as educational secretary; Mrs. P. E. Corby, as organizing secretary; and Mrs. J. Gordon Smith, as secretary, would be greatly missed. At the same time, Mrs. Genge wished to their successors all happiness in their new undertakings.

DEEP APPRECIATION

The beautiful flowers presented to Mrs. Genge from members of the order in Victoria, in a charming way expressed the deep appreciation of all that she has done in her office as regent, and an even deeper personal expression of affection felt by each and every member of the chapter. It was typical of the gracious thoughtfulness of Mrs. Genge that, during tea, she gave a beautiful little gift, in the form of a framed Baxter print, to each of the officers who had worked with her. Flowers were presented by the chapter to Mrs. Albert F. Griffiths, the acting provincial president; to Mrs. William Ellis, the new regent; to the honorary regent, Mrs. J. H. Gillespie; to Mrs. R. B. McKicking; Mrs. Shanks; Mrs. Gordon Smith; Miss Cooke and Mrs. P. E. Corby.

BUSY YEAR

The business sessions, presided over by Mrs. Genge, continued throughout the morning and afternoon, and reports showed that the chapter had widened its range of activities considerably in the past year. Mrs. J. Gordon Smith, in the secretary's report, gave a resume of what had been accomplished. The membership of the I.O.D.E. in Victoria is now 420, and the receipts for the year amounted to $3,853.02, while the disbursements were $3,832.22.

In addition to the work carried on each month throughout the year, special interest at Christmas time was directed towards supplying hampers to ex-soldiers' needy families. Magazines, books, cards and other additions to the recreational life at the relief camps, had been collected and sent. Other activities included secondary education, child welfare work, Solarium, distribution of milk in the schools, work for the Jubilee Hospital, the mission ship Columbia, for the blind, the sending of supplies to the Peace River district, the assistance of the Women's Workroom, in addition to interest in the Girl Guides, Boy Scouts and the upkeep of soldiers' graves.

Mrs. H. K. Prior read the treasurer's report and gave a detailed account of the receipts and expenditures.

Nanaimo Hospital W.A.

The Women's Auxiliary of Nanaimo Hospital raised the sum of $54 at a Shamrock tea and musical, held at the home of Mrs. George Johnson, Chapel Street, on Wednesday afternoon. Despite inclement weather a constant stream of patrons registered during the tea hours and freely patronized a home baking stall. Mrs. E. Lynn and Miss B. Pool, of Victoria, were among the guests. Miss Irvine Bearce, president of the society, assisted the hostess to receive. The reception rooms and beautifully-appointed tea table were decorated in keeping with the season and dainty girls dressed as Irish colleens lent an additional colorful touch. There was a fine miscellaneous programme, with Mrs. D. Edgell and Mrs. F. L. Reynolds as vocal soloists. Mrs. J. F. Newman was the accompanist. Cedrick Nicholls recited and Margaret Green and Winona Hunter, great-granddaughters of the hostess, interpreted Irish dances. Mrs. Joseph Nicolls convoked the programme. Pouring tea were Mrs. C. C. Brown, Mrs. C. H. Barker, Mrs. Giovanni and Mrs. G. A. B. Hall. Mrs. A. M. McLeod, Mrs. J. M. McMaster and Mrs. W. Hoggan served.

Mrs. George Newell convoked the tea and assisting in serving were Mesdames W. Caley, H. Watson, Perry, Hicquebraun and Miss Winnie Eattie.

At a meeting of the Victoria Women's Conservative Association last evening, Mrs. Arthur Villers was welcomed as a new member, the treasurer's report was read and it was reported that the daffodil tea on Wednesday had been a great success. Plans were made for an old-time dance on April 25. The association sent a night letter to Rt. Honorable R. B. Bennett, wishing him speedy recovery from illness. Mrs. Rolston gave the Local Council report. Following the business session Mrs. Reese Burns gave an interesting address on "The Spoken Word," in which she emphasized the fact that a good speaker is not necessarily a loud speaker, but rather, one who speaks clearly and naturally.

Garden City W.A. The monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of Garden City United Church was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. B. Glass, Gladia Avenue. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Perry, the meeting was conducted by Mrs. W. P. Brown. After the routine business had been dealt with, a paper on "Christian Stewardship" was read by Mrs. Reid, and reports were heard from the heralds. Mrs. W. P. Brown closed the study period by leading a discussion on "Education of Girls in India." The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Gardiner, after which refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Thompson.

Cowichan W.A. The Women's Auxiliary to Cowichan Branch, Canadian Legion, had a good attendance at its monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon. The vice-president, Mrs. S. Redgrave, was in the chair. The committee for the recent telephone bridge reported success, over $30 being raised. The relief committee reported very few calls during the past month. Mrs. G. Kennett, for the sick visiting committee, reported visiting thirty-six patients in hospital since January, besides making a number of home calls. After the business meeting Mrs. E. S. Fox gave an interesting talk on old Russian customs.

St. Joseph's Auxiliary The Junior Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital met in the sewing room yesterday, with the president, Miss Norma Porter, in the chair. Miss Betty O'Brien, convener of the dance, gave a report on the cabaret to be held at the Empress Hotel on Easter Monday. The Knights of Columbus are assisting with the cabaret. Social welfare work was discussed and several of the members will visit the patients in the children's ward in the morning. A donation of $5 was made for the purchasing of articles for the linen shower to be held by the hospital.

T.V.A. Auxiliary A St. Patrick's tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Nellie Kelly, 1357 Esquimalt Road, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary to the Tuberculosis Veterans, tomorrow from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock. After the tea, the ladies will be at the tables.

Columbia W.A. Hears of Mission Life in Arctic

A large gathering of members of Columbia W.A. and their friends enjoyed the lantern slides and address given in the Memorial Hall last evening by Mrs. F. J. Brimer, Dominion Dorcas secretary, on the subject of "The Dorcas of the Arctic," in which the Church of England in Canada is interested. The Woman's Auxiliary contributes to the work in the Arctic by an annual grant of approximately $3,800 and in addition the Dorcas supply department provides practically $600 towards furnishings, electric equipment, etc.

The medical work in the Arctic, Mrs. Brimer told the audience, is under the Department of Interior of the Dominion Government. The pictures showed the mission ship leaving Montreal for the Arctic Circle, the scattered Eskimo settlements, the Hudson's Bay posts, some of the Eskimo people themselves, and the Eskimo Residential School, Shingle Point, on the Arctic Ocean, about seventy miles beyond Akavik. This school has an enrollment of thirty-nine children and is fully staffed.

ANGLICAN MISSION

Views of Akavik were particularly interesting, and the Anglican mission, which was established in 1919, has been in continuous operation since that time.

Mrs. Brimer made a special appeal for continued prayer for, and interest in, the Eskimo people and for the missionaries, who under great hardship are working to spread the Gospel in Canada's farthest north diocese.

Lady Lake, the W.A. president, expressed to Mrs. Brimer the thanks of the audience for her interesting address.

MORNING SESSION

The second day's proceedings of the annual meeting opened at 10 a.m. with a devotional address by Rev. R. E. Yerburgh, of St. Mary's Church.

The report of the Prayer Partners' Secretary, Mrs. H. V. Mills, followed, and seemed a suitable sequel to Mr. Yerburgh's very spiritual address. That the primary object of the W.A. is to pray for missions, was emphasized by the secretary, and it is with the object of sustaining missionaries by constant and faithful prayer that workers at home are linked up with missionaries in India, Japan and in Canadian missions.

St. Andrew's Day of Prayer was observed and the Anglican Church was represented at the World Day of Prayer, held in Victoria.

LIVING MESSAGE

The Living Message editor and secretary-treasurer, Miss F. Robertson, reported to the magazine, which carries in the March issue an article on the loved foundress of the auxiliary, Mrs. Roberta E. Tilton.

TODAY'S RECIPE

SALMON LOAF makes a good lunch dish, and is made with one pound of cold-boiled salmon or one tin of salmon; half a cup of rolled cracker crumbs, three tablespoons of melted butter, three eggs beaten stiff, salt and pepper to taste. Mix together and pack into a mould, then steam for one hour. Serve hot with either white sauce or tomato sauce.—Prudence.

This article was also referred to by Mrs. James Dickson, who gave an interesting survey of the early years of the Woman's Auxiliary and its gradual development.

The objects set by the Dominion board to commemorate the fiftieth year of the work, were a membership of 100,000 and an offering of $50,000 to be added to the Roberta E. Tilton fund, the interest accruing being devoted to missionaries and their families in times of sickness.

A special campaign to increase membership is now being carried out in every diocese and Mrs. Dickson is the convener for this diocese.

Mrs. J. H. Hinton, brought in some of the findings of the laymen's committee appointed in 1934 to survey conditions in the diocese, from which much good has resulted to mission parishes as the result of fuller information regarding conditions, especially in country districts. The social service secretary, Mrs. Pope, reported the hopeful sign of a general awakening of church people to their responsibilities towards those in need.

The discussion listed for this session had to be postponed until this morning, when Mrs. W. Hartley will take up the subject "Informed Members Are Interested Members."

Educational secretaries are requested to attend, also presidents of branches.

Anglican Young People

ST. MARY'S

On Wednesday evening the St. Mary's A.Y.P.A. held its monthly business meeting, and among the items discussed was the coming "Country Fair," which will be held on June 5. Conveners were appointed for the programme of attractions. Next Wednesday will take the form of a "Missionary Evening," and the speaker will be Mr. Bragg, a retired missionary. It is hoped that as many of the members as possible will attend.

Strawberry Vale

There were eight tables in play at the first of a series of card parties which the Strawberry Vale Athletic Club intends to hold in the near future. Prizes were won by the following: First lady, Mr. R. Ponsford (substituting); first gentleman, Harvey Plaxton; second lady, Mrs. J. Humphries; second gentleman, Mr. Arthur Longland. Refreshments were served by the ladies' auxiliary of the club, after which dancing was enjoyed.

"THE CHILD"

By REGINALD H. WIGGINS, M.D., C.M., L.M.C.C.

ILLNESS AFFECTS THE CHILD'S PERSONALITY

To have the child meet life's conflicts and perplexing problems adequately, we should endeavor to develop in him desirable habits and character traits; to have him live with them, making them a part of himself. Then he will be able to meet illness, and the other difficulties in life, openly, frankly and courageously, and not by compromise and self-deception.

To fight illness, the parent must observe the following:

1. Do not make illness too attractive, as you destroy his incentive for getting well, and also be troubled with an irritable, selfish child who will dominate the household. There is much more danger in spoiling his disposition through lack of discipline than of aggravating his illness by having him live up to the routine rules of health and conduct to which he has become accustomed.

2. Banish entirely the words sickness, illness and disease from the sickroom, and refuse to discuss the child's condition with the physician while Tommy is within hearing. Control your apprehensions while in the child's presence.

3. In order that your child's personality will not be adversely affected, treat him and his condition in a cheerful, off-hand way. Instill hope; do not create depression.

4. As to diet, no hard and fast rule can be laid down. Be guided by the child's appetite. Never force food upon him, hearing in mind that as his condition improves so will his appetite. Give food as highly concentrated as possible, so long as it is easily digested.

"Children ought to be taught to be proud of being well, not of being ill; that to be healthy is the prime condition of all things desirable in life."—G. W. Stevens.

"HERE'S HOW I MAKE THE OYSTER STEW"

Mrs. William D. Herridge

LIKES SO WELL

... says Florence M. Vincent, cook at the Canadian Legation, Washington, D.C., residence of the Hon. William D. Herridge, K.C., D.S.O., M.C., Canadian Minister to the United States, and Mrs. Herridge

I HAVE received many compliments on my oyster stew," cook Vincent continues, "I am sure the Nestlé's Evaporated Milk I use is one of the reasons for its success. I find, too, that Nestlé's Evaporated Milk is ideal in recipes for other things such as soups, omelettes, creamed dishes and so forth."

In mansion and in modest home, the discerning housewife uses Nestlé's because she knows that its purity and goodness never changes—its generous butter-fat content is always the same. Nestlé's Evaporated Milk is pure, creamy cow's milk, with more than half the water removed. Nothing is added! It is twice as rich as ordinary fluid milk.

Make your cooking appreciated. Decide now to give your dishes added flavour and richness by using Nestlé's. When next you 'phone your grocer ask him to include a few tins with your order.

You will be surprised at the low cost of Nestlé's

HORSE, BOAT RACES ON AIR

Grand National and Oxford-Cambridge Events to Be Columbia Features

Two of England's major sports classics—the Grand National Steeplechase and the Oxford-Cambridge boat race—have been scheduled by the C.B.S. Department of Public Events and Special Features as two outstanding international broadcasts for Spring presentation.

Packed with thrills, excitement, and all the color that goes with century-long tradition, these events carry great interest for American followers of both professional and amateur sport. This year the Grand National will be run on Friday, March 22, and the Oxford-Cambridge contest on Saturday, April 6. Exact times when Columbia network listeners may tune in on the eye-witness accounts will be announced later.

FAMOUS RACE

The coming Grand National will mark the ninety-seventh anniversary of its running. Each year it attracts the best horseflesh in Europe and America alike, to say nothing of the capacity audience which gathers at Aintree to view the great turf spectacle and to wager millions on the outcome. The famous course at Aintree is four miles, 856 yards long and has a total of thirty water and fence hazards. Last year's Grand National winner was Miss Page's Golden Miller.

No less colorful and exciting is the contest between the crack oarsmen of Oxford and Cambridge Universities which always attracts a huge throng from London to witness the battle on the Thames River, between Putney and Mortlake.

ITALY SCENE OF FEATURES

N.B.C. to Offer Series of Educational Programmes in Near Future

A series of trans-Atlantic programmes over National Broadcasting Company networks during the Spring and Summer months will bring listeners an imposing array of educational and entertaining broadcasts from Italy.

Included in the series will be the first broadcast from a gondola in Venice, music and descriptions of two of Italy's famous festivals, and the first broadcast ever made from the fiery crater of Mount Vesuvius. The Festa del Redentore, annual celebration each August of the "Saviour's Feast," by Venetian gondoliers, will be described over an N.B.C. network, marking the first broadcast in this country from Venice.

On April 30 N.B.C. listeners will hear description and music from the so-called "Calendimaggio," at Assisi, Italy. This is a celebration held every year the night of April 30, to usher in the month of May with songs in the streets and public squares.

VEVUSIUS BROADCAST
Some time during May, N.B.C. microphones will pick up the hiss and rumble of boiling lava in the crater of Vesuvius and will send the voice of the volcano to American audiences by short wave.

Portions of the famous festival at Florence, Italy, also will be heard during short-wave broadcasts over N.B.C. networks during May. Several of the world's finest artists will participate in the festival.

During June, Arturo Bonucci, famous cellist, will be heard in a concert from Rome. Playing with a chamber music ensemble, Bonucci will present a programme of medieval chamber music, most of which has never been heard over American radio.

A pick-up from the observatory at Monte Rosa, headquarters for research work for many prominent European scientists, also is planned. The entire series is under the direction of Mgr. Jordan, who will serve as commentator during the programmes, which are being planned in co-operation with E.I.A.R., Italian broadcasting service.

INSURANCE COMPANIES AND DENTAL EXAMINATIONS

Insurance companies are now willing to give their policy holders a physical examination every year free of charge, as the detection of any defects will enable them to correct them before real damage is done. And even when damage has occurred, advice as to how to live within safe limits should prolong life many years.

Now, just as insurance companies do not make an examination of the teeth when the application for insurance is being made, neither do they, as a general rule, offer their policy holders a dental examination every year, or even every two or three years.

This is hard to understand, with the knowledge insurance companies have of the ill effects of infected teeth or gums upon the general health and as a cause of high blood pressure, and diseases of heart, kidney, liver and other organs.

Some idea of the extent of the harmful effects of lack of dental attention can be gathered from figures given by Dr. H. M. Harrison, Toronto, before the annual meeting of the Canadian Dental Hygiene Council last year. He stated that he found thirty per cent of all those examined had actual or beginning trouble of the teeth or gums. In 8,500 examinations checked, 1,105 were found to have high blood pressure, and fifty-four per cent of these had infection of teeth or gums; 289 cases of sugar in the urine were discovered, of which fifty-six per cent had dental or nose and throat infection, and of 180 cases of albumin in the urine sixty-four per cent had infection of teeth, gums, nose or throat.

Now, the fact that forty-six per cent of the high blood pressure cases did not have dental infection and forty-four per cent and thirty-six per cent did not have diabetes or Bright's disease shows that infected teeth or gums do not cause all cases of these ailments. However, the fact that such a large percentage with dental infections do have these ailments which greatly shorten life is good evidence of the need of an examination of the teeth and gums when the application is made for insurance. Also that in addition to a medical examination the insurance companies should give a dental examination yearly. Further, those not carrying insurance should likewise have a medical and dental inspection yearly.

TRAVELERS' AID ASSISTS GIRLS

Y.W.C.A. Appeals for Funds to Support Useful Branch of Work

Numberless stories testifying to the usefulness of the Travelers' Aid service of the Young Women's Christian Association in helping girls and women, arriving here, to get in touch with their friends, could be recited in support of the campaign for funds that is now under way.

The Travelers' Aid is a part of an international service and is supported locally by contributions from women's organizations and a grant from the city. These, however, are not sufficient to meet the cost of the work, so it is being included in the campaign budget.

Frequently an inexperienced traveler springs eagerly off the boat, and the beaming smile vanishes and dancing eyes fill with tears when the looked-for friend fails to meet her. Mail incorrectly addressed, transportation delayed, relatives have left the city and there is no general delivery or rural route address known, perhaps not even that. The lonely one thinks the worst until a friendly hand grasps her arm, listens patiently to her story, promises assistance and gives assurance of protection until those sought can be located. Often these "not met" have no funds, and money is loaned to meet necessary expenses.

Then there is the happy-go-lucky girl who does not expect anyone to meet her, but is suddenly made to realize that a sweet smile will not win the immigration authorities and speed her through the customs. Happiness turns to tragedy until the "Aid" suggests she can go to the Y.W.C.A. until arrangements can be made for her to proceed on her journey or return to her own folk.

Under Dr. Leonard's Internal Method

Large numbers of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine, when salves do not help and wish to escape operation. Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts lifeless. To end Piles an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation and help to heal the affected parts. Dr. Leonard was one of the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for large numbers of patients with a record of success and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist, with money-back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.

So isn't it wise when other ways fail to go to MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores—who say, "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must show you the safe, clean way to get rid of your Pile misery or money-back."

(Adv't.)

Youth Cannot Wait for Better Times

Perhaps we can postpone the purchase of a home, a new car, a holiday trip or a living-room rug until times improve. BUT, if we postpone character building activities, we are menacing the health, the standards, the behavior of our young people. Children do not grow up twice, and they pass this way but once.

Today's boys and girls should not be deprived of the rightful opportunities for healthful recreation, happy friendships, and directed spare-time interests.

In the forefront of community character-building agencies are the Y.M. and Y.W.C.A., their activities are not confined even to their large membership groups, but reach out to every part of the city through co-operation with Churches and Sunday Schools, Service Clubs, Relief Associations, Schools and Sport Organizations.

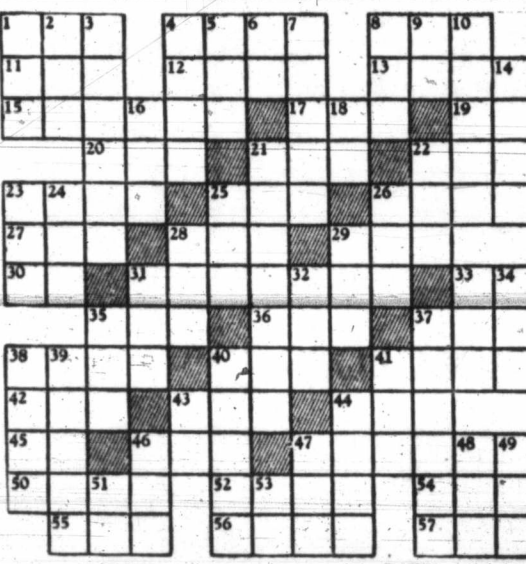

Both Y's are now serving more boys and girls than ever before. Facilities and funds are strained to the utmost. We owe this opportunity to the children and young people of Victoria. No modern community is justified in being without the services rendered by these essentially youth-centred organizations.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

THE LOVE FLIGHT

by Joyce Dixon

CHAPTER XVII

"What's the trouble?" Two men were in the front seat—strong men, Anne noted—and a woman, middle-aged, in the rear. Craig bent over, fussing with the gadgets in front of him. He could not have articulated had he tried. Frothing anger gurgled in him. He had been balked, outwitted, cheapened. And he had flattered himself she was taking it on the chin, taking it sitting down. Fool. He might have known. A woman who ran away from him as though he were a plague. A woman who ran away from her own kind. There were red welts where her claws had dug into the flesh of his hand. The little cat.

"Something's gone wrong," Anne's reply was gay. She all but lilted with the joy of the turned tide. "It's probably the engine. And we've lost our way."

"Where you heading?" The young man who was not driving held the handle of the door next him. He could be out of the car with a swing.

"Palm Beach." Anne's smile was dazzling.

"Then you're pointing the wrong way. It's back there, the way you came from," indicating the road behind.

"Oh, bother! Anne was enjoying her coup—Craig still fussed with the gadgets. She addressed the back of his head at the neck, where it bulged with anger.

"I was sure you were making a mistake, Craig."

"Maybe I can give you a hand," the young man driving the other cars suggested.

"No!" Craig barked from the side of his mouth. He did not raise his head.

"We think it's all right now," Anne added. "But we're not sure. Would you mind waiting until we turn around and get started the other way. Then, if it goes, we'll probably be able to make Palm Beach."

"Sure we'll wait." The young man grinned. He didn't know why, except that the girl's smile was contagious. But the fellow with her, he certainly was a run one. He might say, "Thank you."

Anne was thinking: "Am I safe, even now? Ought I to get in with these strangers, explain that it might be better for me to go on to the next town and leave Mr. Braden to fix the car? The next town. It may be miles away. How will I get back to Bois Joli in time to get Madame? I'm late now—horribly late. I've got to risk going back with Craig."

"Will you turn back now?" she said at the red neck. Her voice was steel-edged.

"Wait until we're out of sight," she called to her rescuers. "It might stop again. Awfully nice of you to see us through—thanks so much."

Her thanks were caught, whirled away by the wind. The speedometer mounted. Faster and yet faster. Eat up the miles. Fly, fly to a fork in the road—to where she could take one road, he could take the other, never to meet again.

How he was hating her. Hating her a thousand times more than ever he had desired her. She had beaten him, cheapened him, fairly, in open fight. Craig the Magnificent, the all powerful, beaten and cheapened. He'd never forgive her. He'd go on hating her, thanking the great god luck he'd found her out in time, gotten rid of her. Oh, he'd find a way to save his ruffled dignity. But inside him he'd know he was beaten and he'd hate her enough to stamp on any smouldering embers of desire he might have for her—to stamp her out of his life.

They were back into the town again, slurring corners, leaping over crossings. He'd kill them both with his blind rage. Death? Better than what he had intended. If it were not for Carl—death might not be so bad—except one was young and the sun shone and there was Carl.

"The corner after the next," she said loudly, to batter through the wall of his blind rage.

The brakes ground. The car slid to the curb. He was over the side, around the back and standing to hand her out before she could open the door. His last ironic gesture. He looked into her eyes—his eyes red-rimmed, smoking with rage, hating her.

"Good-bye, Craig," she said. No regret. No recrimination. No anger. Just the steel edge, nicely formal, coldly final.

"You'll wish to hell you'd never had to say it," he said, and was in the car and off, leaving her standing there, brushing sharp bits of shell from her breast and shoulders where the wheels had flung them. It was after one when Anne reached Bois Joli, tore off her street clothes with no regard to the damage she might be doing, hurrying into her uniform and gave it the last necessary attentions as she sped to Madame's boudoir. What would Madame have to say? She had gone to luncheon by this time—unless there had been an unlooked-for delay. A very particular luncheon, too, at the current smart spot for cafe society—two or three pseudo titles and a spattering of real Mayfair names being hawked by their owners for whatever pleasures they could buy.

Anne paused outside the door. What was on the other side? Madame, storming because she was paying for service she did not get. An envelope with a curt note of dismissal: "Your services are no longer required."

She would have to go through the door, face whatever was there squarely.

But all she saw was Bats rifling through clothes in the gown room off the boudoir.

"I'm horribly late," Anne said, glancing about the room, relieved.

Madame was not in. One knew at once when Madame was in a room. "Was she furious?"

"She wasn't here to be furious, lucky for you." Bats nodded a knowing head. "Right after you left someone called, and she got dressed and went out. Said she'd not be back before lunch. It's a good thing. Her temper was up."

"I couldn't have helped it, even if she had been here. Something happened—I came back as soon as ever I could."

"You look dead, beat. I'll bet you've not had a bite since that sliver of toast and cup of tea this morning. I'll ask cook to send you up a plate of sandwiches and a glass of milk. They've cleared off the table by now."

"Oh, Bats," Anne, gratefully. "I am hungry. I'm starved. Just bread and butter—anything will do."

Bats ordered the sandwiches and milk and went on pottering about the room, "setting things to rights." When the food came, Anne ate greedily. Now she knew how soldiers could gobble glutinous stew out of tin pans and relish them. Fighting took a lot out of one, even with victory at the end. Milk was better than wine. More substantial.

"A box came from Celeste," Bats said when Anne had devoured the last sandwich. "It's in the gown room."

Anne drained the milk, then went for the box. The evening wraps she'd forgotten them completely. Lucky Bats reminded her. Madame might have asked about them and there'd have been another scene, like the night Berta hid the parcels under the stairs. She snapped the string and pulled away the mauve tissue under the lid. Grey silk taffeta. The saleswoman had sent the grey silk wrap after Anne had told her, most distinctly, that Madame would not want it. So she was determined to have her way.

Anne snatched the careful folds of grey silk from the box and flung them on a chair. Another layer of mauve tissue and under it the green wrap with the trails of fringe like seaweed. This one was a beauty. Madame would like this one—except that Madame was not going to have a chance to like it. It would stay there in the box, the grey one would be crumpled in on top of it and they'd both be packed back to Celeste as fast as they could be taken. She would not be bent nor choked with only speech, nor carried away by force nor by fear.

When a messenger, hastily summoned, came, Anne explained to him that he was to take the box straight to Celeste and to deliver it in person to the saleswoman called Miss Maxine. No one else. And he must get a receipt. She paid for the delivery out of her own purse and added a tip twice as large as might be expected. She felt lighter now, refreshed, as though she had come out of her bath. She even laughed at the towed image of herself in the mirror when Bats called attention to the fact that she had put her cap on backward and had forgotten to tuck on the streamers. Madame would have combed her down well for that. Uniforms at Bois Joli were uniforms, not costumes.

Anne finished what she had to do, lingering over her tasks, putting an unnecessary amount of thought, of effort, into them. To have work to do, and want to do it because when it was finished you would be free to come and go, to play and to that—that was all there was in life. That and—rubies. Only when you took the rubies you lost the others—the work and the freedom and the love. You played. Day and night you played, frantically, like an undisciplined child who snatches at his Christmas toys and will not

Blacky Waits for Reddy

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Just before reaching the farm where the fat hens and Bower the Hound were, Blacky waited for Reddy to catch up. It was some time before Reddy appeared, for he wasn't traveling as fast now as when he had started out. You see, that farm really was a very long way from the Old Pasture, where Reddy lives. He had run very hard, because, you know, he was so anxious to get one of those fat hens.

As soon as Blacky saw him he hid in the thick branches of a tall pine tree. Reddy didn't see him. In fact, Blacky had been so far ahead that Reddy had lost sight of him some time before. Out of the bushes trotted Reddy. His tongue was hanging out just a little and he was panting. Blacky was just about to speak when Reddy stopped. He stood as still as if he had suddenly been frozen stiff. His sharp black ears were cocked forward and his head was turned just a little to one side. Reddy was listening. He was listening for the voice of Blacky. You see he thought Blacky was still far ahead of him.

For several minutes Reddy stood listening with all his might and Blacky's sharp eyes twinkled as he looked down watching Reddy. Suddenly Reddy sat down. There was an expression on his sharp face which Blacky understood perfectly. It was quite plain that Reddy was becoming suspicious. He had begun to suspect that he had been tricked by Blacky and led so far away from home for nothing.

Down inside Blacky chuckled. It was a noiseless chuckle, for Blacky did not intend to give himself away until he had to. But when at last he saw that Reddy was beginning to get uneasy, Blacky spoke. "You seem to be feeling better."

Dog Twice Saves Veteran's Life

Edward J. O'Hara, a Toronto war veteran, whose life has been saved several times by Sir Bob of Cluny. Bob pulled Mr. O'Hara out of icy Lake Ontario, and also from the path of an oncoming street car. let them go until he had smashed them one by one.

"If there's nothing more," Anne pushed her hair back from her damp brow. "I think I'll go into the garden." Being indoors today stifled her. "Won't you come, too, Bats?"

"Not now. There's some ends to pick up. You go along. Be back by four in case Madame comes in, and don't forget to fix your cap. It's sure to rile her if she sees you like that."

Anne said: "Yes, I'll fix it right away." She ought to urge Bats to come with her. Bats, who bound herself so rigidly to the wheel of Madame's cart. Day after day, round and round with the wheel, never complaining, never seeming to be conscious even of the grinding revolutions. Bats had forgotten how to play, if indeed she had ever known the first-joyous thrill of skipping into a lark—just because you had to let out some of the poor that was in you or burst. Poor Bats! There were no Seabeaches in her life, no stone benches under the oleander.

"Brute!" That was Anne's estimate of herself, because she ought to feel sorry for Bats, to urge Bats to come along. She did feel sorry, but she could not bring herself to say, "Do come, Bats. The air and sunshine will do you good." She didn't want Bats to come, really. There was a chance, just the slenderest possible chance, that Carl would find her in the garden—at the stone bench.

Anne went to her room for the sewing basket she had acquired since it became necessary for her to do her own mending and needlework. She would carry it to the bench under the oleander and fix her cap there.

Marine Engineer Dies by Drowning

VANCOUVER, March 14 (CP).—

The body of a man recovered from False Creek Wednesday night was identified today as that of A. McLeod, marine engineer, residing at the Stratford Hotel. McLeod apparently fell into the water while working on a boat at the foot of Union Street. His cries for help were heard by several persons in the vicinity who pulled him to shore, but he failed to revive.

"I TRIED some of those cheap soap-chips," says Mrs. L. J. Flanagan, "and I want to tell you it didn't pay."

"I couldn't afford the extra time it took to do the washing with cheap soap-chips. And I couldn't afford to have the clothes fade and wear out so fast."

Dirt laughs at watery soap

Cheap soap-chips just won't make good suds. And skimp suds won't move dirt! You rub and you RUB. Dear, but you're tired! And think what this rubbing does to your clothes! Makes thin places that tear easily. Makes woollens shrink. Pulls garments out of shape.

Besides, poor suds won't carry the dirt away, even after you rub it loose. They get scummy—hard to rinse. Your clothes won't look clear. They won't smell clean.

Danger! Strong bleaching alkalies

And look out for harsh, strong substances used to "cut dirt out" instead of flushing it out with rich, thick suds! No wonder threads break! No wonder materials go limp and sleazy! No wonder colors fade! See how harsh soap reddens your hands. This is a warning. Can you afford to let crude, harsh soap ruin your clothes?

At the sound of Blacky's voice Reddy was so startled that he jumped quite as if he had sat down on a sharp briar. He was sharp enough to know that it was no longer any use to pretend. "I'm feeling better," said he. "The thought of those fat hens has quite restored my strength. Did you say that they are near here?"

"I didn't say, but—Blacky didn't finish. He didn't need to. From the other side of a little swamp in front of them a rooster crowed. That was answer enough. Reddy's yellow eyes gleamed. In an instant he was on his feet, the picture of alertness.

"Are you satisfied that I told the truth?" asked Blacky. Reddy nodded.

ENGINEER CLAIMS DOCK JOB NEEDED

City Garbage Wharf at Foot of Herald and Telegraph Streets in Bad Shape

The city garbage wharf at the foot of Herald and Telegraph Streets may have to be rebuilt this year at a cost of several thousand dollars as the result of a recent survey made by G. M. Irwin, city engineer.

Several portions of the old dock are in bad shape, with extensive work needed in the way of piles, caps and decking. The structure covers an area of 59 acres and some parts have not been renewed for twenty years.

Whether it will be more economical to rebuild the whole wharf or carry out temporary repairs will have to be decided by the City Council.

It was Grandad's ambition to have a "rig and a gal."

Yes, and Dad wanted to have a flivver and a flapper. And the son will probably want a plane and a Jane.

PRIVATE VIEW OF GUEST WHO HAS BEEN GIVEN TOWELS WASHED WITH CHEAP SOAP-CHIPS

ELLA'S TOWELS ALWAYS SMELL SO QUEER I HATE TO USE THEM

TAKE WARNING from the smell of cheap soap-chips! That strong odor comes from rancid fats and harsh substances. And the trouble is, this crude soap gives poor suds. It won't pick up the dirt and rinse out easily. It leaves a gray look and a stale smell in your clothes.

CONSIDER THESE 3 POINTS FOR REAL ECONOMY

- 1 Chipso is SOAPIER... gives wonderful suds for loosening dirt... goes farther.
- 2 Chipso is made of GRADE A materials... free from lumps, dirt and bad odor.
- 3 Chipso SAVES CLOTHES—which are far more costly than any soap.

CHIPSO MAKES CLOTHES WEAR LONGER

"IT PAYS TO USE CHIPSO"

women say

"Chipso suds really loosen dirt"... "Chipso washes clothes so SAFELY that they last and last"

"No Hard Rubbing"

You can tell right away that Chipso is finer, richer soap. It feels rich and silky. It smells sweet as fresh cream. And as soon as you get Chipso and water together, the thick, smooth suds pile up. They stay up and work. They loosen dirt like magic. "I threw away my washboard when I began using Chipso," says Mrs. L. E. Frank.

"White Clothes Glisten"

"After I changed to Chipso, I had no more trouble with dingy-looking clothes. Now my white clothes are so white they glisten. And even last year's clothes still look new. That's a bigger saving than skimping a few cents on soap!" (Mrs. L. J. Flanagan)

"NO FADING"

"I used a piece of original, unwashed material to let out a blue dress for my little girl. The dress had been washed with Chipso for 3 years, but the color still matched the new piece exactly," says Mrs. A. B. King.

SPECIALS FOR ANNIVERSARYJameson's Electrical, Ltd., Completes Three Years of Business in City

The firm of Jameson's Electrical, Ltd., 1121 Douglas Street, has now completed the third year of successful business, looking back on a record of steady growth and development from the first moment of inception. To celebrate this anniversary, the management is featuring a special merchandising event throughout the store.

Jameson's Electrical, Ltd., is in reality a subsidiary of Jameson Motors, Ltd., and business was first commenced in their Broughton Street premises. For some years Jameson Motors had handled General Electric goods and appliances as a wholesale house, R. J. Jameson, president of the firm, having been connected with electrical engineering since 1898.

ENTERS RETAIL FIELD
In March, 1932, Jameson's Electrical, Ltd., entered the retail field, established on Broughton Street and under the management of G. E. MacDonald. Within seven months the business had grown to such an extent that it was necessary to move to larger premises and the doors were opened at 717 Fort Street. A little over a year ago the business of Hawkins & Hayward, one of the oldest established electrical firms in Victoria, was purchased and today Mr. MacDonald heads a staff of twenty-four, as against the three who were sufficient in the first days of the business.

G. E. MacDonald

Throughout the store General Electric products, radios, washers, refrigerators, ranges and all kinds of appliances are featured. Two floors of electrical merchandise are on display. In addition there is an electrical engineering department and a fully-equipped radio service and repair department.

QUALITY AND SERVICE
When questioned as to the secret of the steady development of Jameson's Electrical, Mr. MacDonald attributed the success to two things, quality and service.

"General Electric merchandise holds a reputation for quality," said Mr. MacDonald, "and at all times we have striven to uphold this standard and to back it by a policy of service. The response we have received more than proves the public's appreciation."

Pleading guilty to a charge of driving after dark with defective lights, Bart Westbrook, Walter Avenue, Saanich, was fined $5.

Noted Comedian Plays Important Role in Zane Grey's "Rocky Mountain Mystery"

Charles "Chic" Sale, noted comedian and humorist, featured in Zane Grey's "Rocky Mountain Mystery," coming today to the Dominion Theatre, is the man who originated the term "wisecrack," yet he has never used a wisecrack to get across the humor of his many stage and screen characterizations.

Years ago, Sale introduced his famous stage character "Pilibert Twitch." He was, to use Sale's description, "a wise hombre from the poolrooms who talked big and made wisecracks."

Theatrical reviewers picked up the word "wisecrack" from Sale's characterization. Later the columnists took note of it, and soon it became a recognized addition to the English vocabulary.

In "Rocky Mountain Mystery" Sale plays the role of a comedy deputy sheriff who literally stumbles into the solution of the radium mine murders.

Randolph Scott, Mrs. Leslie Carter, Kathleen Burke and Ann Sheridan are featured in the cast of this picture. Charles Barton directed.

"SOAP BOX DERBY" RULING CHANGED

Boys' Wooden Coasters Will Be Permitted to Have Roller-Bearing Wheels in Contest

Change in the rules of the "soap-box derby" to be held on the morning of May 25, on Yates Street hill, has been announced by the British Columbia Automotive Sports Association. The "soap-box derby" is a race of wooden coaster autos operated by boys. This event will be run in connection with the May 24, 25 and 26 celebrations.

Previously, roller-bearing wheels on coasters barred them from entry. The committee, however, has reconsidered and these wheels will be permitted. It was reported.

Prizes for the Derby will be: First, $10.00; second, $7.50, and third, $5.00. Police Chief Thomas Heatley will present a cup to the winner of the "best-looking-car" contest.

Entrants for this competition are asked to register their coasters with Jack Smith, 921 Wharf Street, as soon as possible.

The motorcycle division of the celebration committee has received outside entries for the May 25 races, insuring plenty of riders for this contest. Russel Moodie, who represented Canada in the Isle of Man Tourist Trophy race, has entered, it was stated.

Entries from the Northwest Auto Racing Association, of Seattle, will be accepted by the British Columbia Automotive Sports Association, it was decided. At present there are fourteen cars under construction by local drivers and a good programme of auto racing is anticipated.

Recently a lumberjack won a tree-chopping contest against 130 competitors. There was immense enthusiasm, the spectators joining in singing "For He's a Jolly Good Feller."

REVUE OPENS AT EMPIRE TONIGHT

"Rhapsody in Rhythm" Will Be Presented Here Today and Tomorrow

The stage is all set for the grand reopening of the Empire Theatre this evening with the revue "Rhapsody in Rhythm," which has come here direct from a phenomenal run all across the continent, from New York to Los Angeles, and up the Coast from there.

There is a little bit of everything good and clean in the way of enjoyment with this revue. There are songs and dances galore, comic numbers, acrobatic performances and novelty turns. A smart dance orchestra and an up-to-the-minute master of ceremonies guarantee to make this show an outstanding success.

Listed on the programme are Harry and Billie Clark, in a toy soldier tap dance; Charles Rely and Company, hand-balancers; Gleason and Allyn, in a "musical cocktail"; Bernice Jarne, a dainty little acrobatic dancer; Bobby and King, in a comedy act; Cropley and Violet, in rope spinning and adagio, and the Three Rhythm Queens, in a number of dances which promise to be different.

CHARLES LAUGHTON IN STARRING COMEDY ROLE

A stellar Hollywood comedy cast brings Harry Leon Wilson's famous story of the English butler in a Western backwoods town to the screen in Paramount's "Ruggles of Red Gap," which comes tomorrow to the Capitol Theatre.

Heading the cast is Charles Laughton, foremost English actor, in his first full-length comedy role as "Ruggles."

He is supported by Mary Boland and Charlie Ruggles, as the famous "Frouds," and by Roland Young, Zasu Pitts, Lella Hyams, Maude Eburne and Lucien Littlefield in supporting roles.

The picture, set in the booming 1900's, shows how Ruggles, won in a poker game in Paris, upsells the little town of Red Gap, U.S.A., when he goes democratic in a big way and becomes a gentleman, instead of a gentleman's gentleman.

The gay Vienna of olden days is in no way as well depicted as in the fascinating Strauss waltzes. In selecting the "Blue Danube Waltz" for the closing number of their two-piano recital at the Empress Hotel, March 19, at the Empress Hotel, Gwendoline Harper and Edgar Holloway show a keen knowledge of programme making. Beginning the recital with three organ chorale preludes arranged for two pianos, followed by a Mozart sonata, the Brahms variation on a theme of Haydn, a group of French works by Arensky and then a group of strictly modern compositions, the two well-known recitalists offer a programme of music varied and interesting in character.

Big Contingent of Local Athletes Will Leave for Vancouver Today

Blue Ribbons and Rep Ruggers Ready For Crucial Games

Local Basketballers Will Face Varsity Tonight in First of Provincial Play-Offs—Victoria Fifteen Seeking McKechnie Cup—College Ruggers Also Making Journey

CHUCK CHAPMAN

Seeking honors on the basketball court and the Rugby field at Vancouver, more than forty of Victoria's outstanding athletes will leave for the Mainland today. The contingent, one of the largest to invade the large city across the gulf waters for many a day, includes the Victoria McKechnie Cup Rugby squad, Victoria College ruggers, and the Victoria Blue Ribbons, former Canadian basketball titleholders and present city champions.

Billed to meet the Varsity this evening in the first game of the British Columbia men's senior "A" hoop play-offs, the members of the Ribbons will leave on the afternoon boat. Those making the trip include Manager J. A. "Barney" Barnwell, Dave Nicol, coach, "Chuck" Chapman, Art Chapman, Albert Martin, Alex. McKechnie, Doug Peden, Bill Wallis, Joe Ross and "Porky" Andrews. Johnny Craig, the other member of the tea and coffee merchants, is unable to make the trip.

CONFIDENCE reigned in the Ribbons' camp yesterday evening, after they had finished their final workout prior to the opening of the big series tonight with the University of British Columbia quintette. All of the players are in the pink of condition and feel capable of taking the measure of Varsity cagers.

With Bob McInnes, veteran J.B.A.A. mentor, and Coach Ernie Butterworth in charge, Victoria's McKechnie Cup Rugby fifteen will leave this evening for the Mainland, where they are billed to meet Vancouver tomorrow afternoon in the final fixture of the British Columbia series.

The local "rep" players went through their final workout yesterday evening and are ready and anxious for the sound of the whistle that will send them in quest of the coveted McKechnie Cup.

Victory tomorrow for the local ruggers will give them possession of the silverware for the next twelve months.

With their backfield stronger, according to reports, than it was when Victoria played Varsity, the locals are given a good chance to cop the fixture with Vancouver.

"REP" RUGBY TEAM
The Capital City players making the trip for this crucial game follow: Fullback, Roddy McInnes; three-quarters, Ken Buxton, Howie Anderson, Pete Turgooze and Paul Rowe; seven-eighths, Ken Fleming; halfbacks, "Buzz" Brown and Wally Stipe; forwards, Bill Wharton, Dan Dowell, Harry Eastham, Alex Briggs, Hall, Jack Banks and Ed deBlacque. Reserve: Alex Gaunt.

COLLEGE MEETS VARSITY
Victoria College ruggers will also leave tonight. Tomorrow afternoon at Brockton Point the Craigdarroch boys will play University of British Columbia's second fifteen in the curtain-raiser to the McKechnie Cup fixture.

Players making the trip include L. Cox, R. Price, P. Nation, P. Leckie-Ewing, Bill Hudson, W. Veitch, J. Cox, J. Fisher, Vic Painter, Vic Thomas, J. Fisher, W. Halkett, W. Kennedy, F. Garrison, Bob Lindsay, Leighton and Field. Coach Johnny Rowlands will accompany the team to Vancouver for the match, and feels confident his proteges will chalk up a win over the University of British Columbia squad. Nute Cameron, president of the Students' Council, will also make the trip.

Following the match, Victoria College players will be entertained by U.B.C. at an informal function.

Another Dean in Majors

Baseball will see yet another Dean. Manager Rogers Hornsby, master mind of the St. Louis Browns, welcomes Jack Dean, first cousin to the famous Dizzy and Daffy of the St. Louis Cardinals. Jack is also a pitcher, and he aims to emulate the feats of his well-known cousins when it comes to mound duty.

The Slowest Ship—In March, 1889, Captain Aristide Cosulich, then an apprentice on the bark Teresa Cosulich, took thirty days under full sail to cover only 200 miles from Oran, North Africa, to Gibraltar. Adverse winds and currents buffeted the small ship hither and yon. Some days it made good distance, other days going way off the course. Some times it was within sight of land all day. Later, as captain of the Italian express liner Saturnia, Captain Cosulich covered the same distance in less than ten hours.

Captain Cosulich, who spent his career in the service of the shipping company founded by his forefathers, is now retired and living in Trieste, Italy.

BOLTON WANDERERS HOPE TO QUALIFY FOR FOURTH FINAL

Second Division Leaders Will Clash With West Bromwich Albion and Will-Field Same Eleven Which Eliminated Everton—Sheffield Wednesday to Tackle Burnley Squad

LONDON, March 14 (CP).—Semi-finalists for the English Cup are putting finishing touches to their plans for the big games scheduled for Saturday at Leeds and Birmingham. West Bromwich Albion meets Bolton Wanderers on the grounds of Leeds United, while Burnley and Sheffield Wednesday clash at the Aston Villa enclosure.

Hoping to qualify for their fourth cup final, the Wanderers will field the same team that defeated Everton in the sixth round. The following players make up the team: Jones, Smith, Finney, Goslin, Atkinson, G. Taylor, G. T. Taylor, Eastham, Milson, Westwood and Cook. Nine of these players will play in their first semi-final.

Finney possesses two cup final medals and Cook one. Eastham and Westwood are the shining lights of the Bolton team, the two inside forwards being regarded as among the cleverest in English football today. All the players are fit and feel they have a great chance of evening the reverse suffered twenty-six years ago in the only previous cup-tie in which Bolton opposed West Bromwich.

The Thistles are not underestimating Bolton's calibre, but their speedy vanguard is determined to give the Lancastrian defence a strenuous time. Their representatives on Saturday will include Pearson, Shaw, Trentham, Murphy, W. Richardson, Edwards, Galt, Carter, W. G. Richardson, Sandford and Boyes.

Sheffield Wednesday officials are optimistic. All members of the team are fit and the following are expected to take the field: Brown, Nibble, Catlin, Sharp, Millership, Burrows, Hooper, Surtees, Palethorpe, Starling and Rimmer.

The Wednesday is generally admitted to be the more scientific side, but Burnley's hopes are based chiefly on stamina and forceful methods. The following are expected to play: Scott, Richmond, Waterfield, J. Brown, Wallace, Robinson, Hancock, G. Brown, Smith, Hornby and Downes.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE
GLASGOW, March 14 (CP).—Leading Scottish soccer teams should have little trouble in improving their positions on the league ladder Saturday. With the exception of Celtic, Hamilton Academicals and St. Johnstone, clubs in the running for the championship play before home crowds.

Glasgow Rangers, with a four-point advantage over Celtic at the top of the First Division, meet the Jolly Queen of the South and may widen the margin over the runners-up, who visit Dunfermline. Third-place Hearts are at home to the famous amateurs, Queen's Park, and are likely to annex both points, while Aberdeen entertain Albion Rovers at Pittodrie.

Two tight battles will be those between Clyde and St. Johnstone and Motherwell and Hibernians. The four sides are bunched in the stranding and dour struggles are in prospect.

Third Lanark, leaders of the Second Division, should have little trouble disposing of Brechin City at Glasgow.

Remember When (Twenty-Five Years Ago)
An eclectic golf competition has been in progress at the Oak Bay golf links for the last three weeks for a cup presented by R. Stanley, a prominent lawyer of Honolulu. The trophy was submitted by Mr. Stanley as a result of a visit he paid here some months ago, during which time he played over the local links and enjoyed himself immensely. The silverware was intended as a token of his appreciation, and the contest has developed into one of the most interesting of the club series. There were forty-nine entries and eight rounds were played. M. J. Mason was successful with the very good score of 63, while R. N. Hincks, who took second, was only one stroke behind.

Ten or more bouts will be included in the programme of tomorrow evening's Island fistic championships, to take place at the A.O.U.W. Hall under the auspices of the James Bay Athletic Association.

This means that the enthusiasts who attend, and it is confidently expected that the auditorium will be crowded to the doors, will be treated to at least thirty rounds. On the occasion of the Empress Athletic Club's tournament there were but one or two of the matches that didn't require a fourth round to enable the judges to agree on a winner. That this will happen in connection with some of the championships is altogether likely.

Now that the bright warm sunshine is finding its way around the athletic quarters of the High School grounds, the baseball enthusiasts are beginning to get busy. Every day sees the boys rustling down field after "flies" and "grounders," and no time is being lost to get a fast team in the field for the city intermediate league. With the material at hand it is expected that the High School artists will be strong contenders for the league honors.

Peden Finishes In Third Place In Pedal Grind
LOS ANGELES, Cal. March 15 (AP).—Numerous spills delayed the finish of the six-day bike race with the contestants forced to pedal into the early hours of this morning beyond the scheduled midnight finish time.

At that time, Jimmy Walther, New York, and Al Crossley, Boston, were in the lead after 146 hours of racing. They had gone 2,368 miles, eleven laps and had 1,081 sprint points. Second were Henry O'Brien, San Jose, Cal., and Pete Van Kempen, Holland, who had gone the same distance, but had only 324 sprint points.

William Peden, Victoria, and Jules Audy, Montreal, were in third place, a lap behind, with 992 sprint points.

GOLDEN MILLER CAPTURES RACE

Favorite for Grand National Wins Cheltenham Gold Cup Event

CHELTENHAM, England, March 14 (CP).—Dorothy Paget's big gelding, Golden Miller, came off best in a grueling trial for the Grand National Steeplechase today.

Golden Miller, winner of the Grand National last year and warm favorite for this year's race, trounced other Grand National candidates in the Cheltenham Gold Cup over a course of three miles and three furlongs, which compared with the four and a half miles of the Grand National itself.

He won by three-quarters of a length over J. H. Whitney's Thorndell II, who is second choice for the Grand National, with Kelsboro Jack, a former Grand National winner, at third place, another five lengths back. The five other starters included Southern Hero and Avenger, considered good Aintree prospects.

The winner started odds-on favorite at 1 to 2, Thorndell II at 5 to 2, and Kelsboro Jack at 100 to 7. Golden Miller's time was 6:39.

FIGHTER HEADING FOR THE MAINLAND

AMHERST, N.S., March 14 (CP).—Bobby Orr, Joggins fighter, who held the Maritime welterweight crown for several months before Bobby Allen, of Westville, regained it, will leave for Vancouver the first week of May. He plans a series of fights along the West Coast, and hopes eventually to have a crack at the Canadian title.

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP).—Those behemoths of the ring, Primo Camera and Ray Impellittiere, will whale away at each other in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night for the privilege of moving up a notch in the current heavyweight elimination tournament.

The winner of the ten-round engagement is to be pitted with the victor of the March 22 brawl between Art Lasky and the veteran James J. Braddock, the idea being to send the survivor against Max Schmeling in the tourney finale.

Frank Patrick's Squad Plays Tenth Straight Game Without a Loss—Canadiens Go on Scoring Rampage to Beat Rangers, 5-4—Detroit Wings Turn Back Chicago Hawks, 4-3

NEW YORK, March 14 (CP).—The Boston Bruins clinched the right to meet Toronto Maple Leafs for the National Hockey League championship by defeating New York Americans 5-4 tonight.

Nels Stewart, who was the first to score for the Bruins, was the hero of the game. He scored twice in the first period and once in the second.

The second period and another which barely failed to knot the count in the semi-final minute.

The final burst brought three goals in twenty-five seconds, while Babe Siebert, of Boston, was in the penalty box. Peggy O'Neill scored the first on a breakaway play engineered by Max Kaminsky, and that proved to be the winning counter as the next two plays brought New York goals by Art Chapman and Lorne Carr.

In the first period Eddie Shore was credited with a goal when Al Murray shoved the puck into his own net trying to clear, and Jerry Shannon made it 2-0 for Boston. Red Conn and Carr evened the count in the middle of the second only to have Nels Stewart and Charlie Sands build up a 4-2 lead for the Bruins.

New Players Appear On Canadian Press N.H.L. Puck Teams

Lorne Chabot Gains Goalie's Berth on First-String Team—Boucher-Conacher-Jackson Line In-tact—Shore and Seibert Placed—Second Team Has Several New Stars

By ELMER DULMAGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TORONTO, March 14 (CP).—New "big" names and just a scattering of the old favorites, rugged fighters who can't be pushed out, decorated 1935's National Hockey League all-star teams today after sports writers had finished indulging themselves by toppling idols of long standing and smashing what almost amounted to traditions.

LORNE CHABOT Here and there the newspaper critics, voting in the fifth annual Canadian Press poll, found themselves in agreement. They were agreed, for instance, that several old-timers, giants who have dominated the hockey scene for a decade or more, had to abdicate. The trouble was picking their successors.

The consensus of thirty-three ballots lined up the all-stars this way:

Not by any means is it a layout of young stars, although the selection marks the all-star debut of lanky Lorne Chabot, poker-faced Black Hawk custodian, and Earl Seibert, the best young defence man to reach the National League in the last five or six years.

Nor is it a representative gathering of veterans—not with King Clancy, Ching Johnson and Bill Cook missing for the first time since the all-star poll was inaugurated in 1931. Just twelve months ago Clancy and Lionel Conacher were swept by commanding majorities into first-team defence posts. They didn't figure this year.

COMPLETE OVERHAULING

The writers gave the all-star machinery an almost complete overhauling, even if they did it with a minimum of agreement. Leaving Toronto's great wing men, Charlie Conacher and Harvey Jackson, on either side of Frankie Boucher, of New York Rangers, for the second straight year, they got down to business on the alternate line-up.

Marvin ("Cyclone") Wentworth, of Montreal Maroons; Art Coulter, of Chicago; Ralph ("Cooney") Hainworth, of Detroit Red Wings; and Dit Clapper, of Boston Bruins, had never been given all-star rating before. Only Cecil ("Tiny") Thompson, Bruins' goaltender, and Aurel Joliat, wiry little Montreal Canadiens' right winger, were returned—and it was close for both of them.

But by far the closest contest was for goal. Last Spring Charlie Conacher, Chicago's curly-headed net man, was not only the toast of the town that was on the point of winning the Stanley Cup for the first time, but the greatest goaltender of his day. The sports writers were nearly unanimous in naming him for the all-star team.

With Gardiner taken by death soon after his greatest triumph, the National League was left without a dominant figure in the nets. Thompson, Chabot, Roy Worters, of New York Americans; Alex Connell, of Montreal Maroons; George Hainsworth, of Toronto—all were top-notchers without being super-men.

CLOSE STRUGGLE

So the race for goal developed into a close struggle. Chabot won by a narrow margin over Thompson, with Worters and Connell a step behind. Chicago, decided the writers, is still getting high-class last-guard protection from the veteran Chabot, who started his major league career with New York Rangers, after quitting Port Arthur senior. Allan Cup champions, in 1927.

Port Alberni and Hoyle-Brown Will Battle Tomorrow

The rise of Clapper to second place among the league's right wingers left New York's Bill Cook out of the all-star picture for the first time. The elder Cook obtained six votes for the second team, Clapper received thirteen and Larry Aurie, of Detroit, seven. Three went to Earl Robinson, of Maroons.

Joliat received one more vote than Johnny Gottselig, of Chicago, for the left wing on the second team, the count being ten to nine for the Canadian veteran. Paul Thompson, of Chicago; Sweeney Schriner, New York American rookie, and Howe got three apiece.

WHY IS IT "ANCILLARY"?

It would astonish almost every ancillary receiver to know that his original predecessor was the common housemaid; but that, answering a request of a reader, is how it started.

"Ancillary," of course, is of more than legal import. In addition to ancillary receivers and ancillary courts, we have ancillary treatises and other applications. In each instance, however, the word characterizes something accessory, something subordinate or auxiliary to a higher institution or a superior authority.

This sense is about all that is left of the original significance of the root source, which is the Latin "ancilla," meaning a female servant.

Treasures of Royal Palace Are Special Care of Queen Mary

Mrs. D. M. Duncan Addresses Arts and Crafts, Picturing Her Majesty's Life Since Coronation — Presentation Made to Miss Alexander

QUEEN Mary in the self-appointed role of archivist, carrying on work begun by the late King Edward, of cataloguing and arranging, with some kind of harmony, the furniture and art treasures of the royal palaces, was one of the less-familiar aspects in which Her Majesty was pictured by Mrs. D. M. Duncan, principal of St. Margaret's School, in the course of her fascinating talk before the Island Arts and Crafts Society last evening.

The meeting was well-attended, developing through the years as a woman and as a queen. Her wonderful gifts for administration as well as her unerring taste were shown in her management of Buckingham Palace, Windsor, Sandringham, and Balmoral. Windsor alone had 1,000 rooms which the public never saw.

Despite the sometimes derogatory comments made concerning the Queen's hats and the severity of her diamonds, there was something very satisfactory and "right" about her appearance. In her older photographs there was nothing grotesque to the modern taste as was too often the case with one's own photographs of an earlier day.

WOMANLY QUEEN
The beautiful womanliness of the Queen's character was constantly emphasized by Mrs. Duncan, who used K. Woodward's "Queen Mary" (Hutchinson, London) as the source of her information. After picturing the Queen's girlhood and young womanhood, in which it was shown the foundations of her magnificent health and splendid character were well laid, the speaker took up the period of Her Majesty's life since her coronation, "facing the tremendous demands of a great position, mastering one by one the manifold and exacting duties of that position—and growing and of Her Majesty's tact was seen at the opening of Canada House, when she wore a diamond-studded maple-leaf Canadian brooch. In her relations with the servants of the Royal household she exhibited the same tact, delicacy, and sweetness that endeared her to the public at large.

A special chapter in the story of the Queen's life was set aside for her war-time activities, when she had shown the tenderest solicitude for the wounded and an intelligent and vigorous capacity in connection with the mobilization of the women of the Empire for war work. Nobility, fortitude, and womanliness of the highest kind were shown in "the martyrdom of her daily visits to the wounded" in hospital, for although by nature shy she realized the pleasure given by her little personal word of sympathy. Something of the same sympathy, coupled with a sense of justice, made her active in trying to do away with the "sweated" conditions among women workers revealed in one of the Parliamentary reports.

Captain Thorpe-Douglas moved an eloquent vote of thanks to the speaker.

Y.P.S. News

METROPOLITAN

"The New Community," the third in the series in the general theme of "Christian Youth Building a New World," was the evening's programme of Metropolitan Young People's Society on Monday.

The programme opened with a singing, with Miss Ruth Amblad accompanying at the piano, assisted by Miss Catherine Craig. A worship service was conducted by Albert Wood, who read a paper bearing on present-day conditions, entitled "Fired at Forty," and also led in prayer. Miss Beatrice Dykes announced several hymns. Miss Ellis Waller read a poem, "Live and Help Live," by Edwin Markham. Mr. George I. Warren, Jr. showed a number of films. To emphasize the necessity of keeping the traffic regulations in order to have a good community, a short skit was presented, with Bert Simpson as judge, Harold Price as clerk and Lloyd Knapp as policeman. The evening closed with a fellowship circle and the singing of "Abide With Me."

Next week the theme will be "Irish Stew," in commemoration of St. Patrick's Day. Plans are maturing for the presentation of a miniature Wembley exhibition in the school-room. This interesting exhibit will be open to the public on March 26, 27 and 28 from 3 to 10 o'clock each of the three days.

CENTENNIAL

The weekly meeting of the Centennial Young People's Society was held Tuesday evening. The Fairfield Young People's Society and Mr. Phil Hodder and Mr. Jackson were the guests. The meeting opened with the usual devotional service, led by Charlie McLeod, Jim McCague and Eileen Foster. The vice-president voiced a word of praise to the visitors. Mr. Phil Hodder gave an interesting and humorous talk concerning the flyer's life in the Great War, and more especially in Italy. Refreshments were served by Miss Betty Corlass. The drama committee held its first practice for the play which they hope to present some time in April.

FIRST UNITED Y.P.L.
The First United Y.P.L. meeting took the form of a mock parliament. Bill Findlay was chairman, and the "Minister of Finance" was Gordon Robson. "Mr. Speaker" was K. McDonald and the "page boy" was Douglas Balfour. A solo was sung by Mr. Crawford. Miss M. Jones led the devotions, and Miss Mabel Burkholder gave a short talk on the word "Mizpah." Next Monday evening there will be a St. Patrick's social.

CATHOLIC

The Catholic Young People's Club is supporting the St. Patrick's concert at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Monday. The committee in charge of the concert has the programme well in hand, and well-known singers, dancers, dramatic talent and instrumentalists will contribute. A twelve-piece orchestra will also give numbers. A dress rehearsal will be held at the theatre on Sunday evening.

OAK BAY

The meeting of the Oak Bay Society was held recently in the parlors of the Oak Bay United Church. Miss Lucy Shaw was the convener for the evening. Two speakers, Miss Dora Curtis and Miss Estelle Clarke, spoke on the missionary work of the United Church of Canada abroad. Miss Curtis spoke on Trinidad, and Miss Clarke, on Africa.

KNOX

Knox Y.P.S. held its usual weekly meeting in the church with the president, Mr. Dick Creech, in the chair. Miss Isla Mitchell read the Scripture. After the business meeting, the young men kalsomined the walls of the young people's room. Miss Isla Mitchell served hot dogs as a surprise for the young people. Next week the meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, as on Monday the society is attending a debate which will be held at St. Paul's Church.

port, Mrs. Corby referred to the organization of the new Edward Prince of Wales Chapter. Regret was expressed at the disbanding of the Valentine Harvey-Beaumont Boggs Chapter after sixteen years' faithful service. She urged her hearers to assist the younger chapters in their activities, realizing that in time, these young people will take the place of the older members.

Mrs. F. R. Wright read the Echoes report, and suggested that the payment of the subscription fee by the members should be accompanied by the annual subscription to Echoes.

Mrs. R. Shanks read the standard-bearer's report.

EDUCATIONAL REPORT

The educational work of the L.O.D.E., which has formed so important a part in the activities of the order throughout Canada, was reported by Miss A. B. Cooke, who, for the past sixteen years, has done invaluable service as head of this committee. It was gratifying to realize, Miss Cooke said, that the chapter had co-operated with the Provincial Department of Education in supplying books, etc., to children living in isolated districts who were taking the school correspondence courses.

She also reported that eleven bursaries had been awarded to Victoria and Saanich students in the sec-

Jane Dixon Says:

TRY THE LAUGH CURE ON BOY FRIEND WHO IS OVERLY FOND OF HIMSELF

One of the temptations few of us can resist is to stick pins into inflated egos. As a matter of fact, we should not try to resist this temptation. To let some of the hot air out of a puffed-up person is as beneficial to the big balloon as it is amusing to us. If only human beings could have a true picture of the way they look to others when they swank and swagger and blow themselves up! What a shock they'd get.

Dear Miss Dixon: I am going with a fellow who recently quarreled with his former sweetheart. He isn't working steadily, and he has told me he expects to go to night school and take a course in bookkeeping.

I think this is a very good plan and have encouraged him to take the course. Then he said that when he starts to school he will give all his time to his studies and will not bother about evening pleasures. He told me that he knows he is a queer fellow, but he can't help it, so many girls are crazy about him.

He once asked me if I liked him a lot. I couldn't say no. Then he insisted on knowing why I liked him. I couldn't answer that either, because if I did he probably would consider me just another girl who is crazy about him.

Miss Dixon, I want to see him go to night school and make something of himself, but I want to know what there is to talk about with a man who kind of loves himself. He calls me on the phone quite regularly.

Is it proper to go to his home with him if he asks me to go? Would this make him feel as though I was running after him?

His former girl called me one evening and told me to keep away from him, but he said to pay no attention to what she said. When he has a few drinks he tells me he loves me, but when he drinks nothing he never as much as says he likes me. I'd write to him, but it doesn't seem the thing to do because he phones me so often.

I don't want this fellow to laugh at me in the end. I would like to go with him a while longer, but I feel I'm slipping. Is it improper to mention his former girl to him? I lack good conversation. When I do start talking I get sentimental.

Tell me what to say to this man when he asks me if I still love him (when I know he doesn't care, but just wants to hear me admit I care for him). How often or seldom should I give him a date? Is it all right for me to invite him to a Sunday dinner?—W.W.V.

Answer: It is proper for you to invite the young man to Sunday dinner any time you please, but I wouldn't say it is all right for you to do so. Until he stops boasting of his conquests among the ladies, ceases making alcoholic love to you, and behaves like a gentleman, in my opinion it would never be all right to invite him to dinner or to any other affair.

What is there to talk about with a man who kind of loves himself? The only subject that really interests him, my dear, is himself. As long as you go on talking about him, feeding his vanity and giving him new cause to blow himself up, he will be interested. Just tell him how good he is, how irresistible, and he'll think you're one of the smartest girls he has ever met. When he gets tired hearing you cheer him, he'll move on and listen for a new voice to confirm his opinion of himself.

If you are willing to lend yourself to this sort of absurdity, that is your business. However, I can't believe that any sensible girl who has a respect for her own integrity could care seriously for the company of a big blow-off.

By all means encourage him to go to night school. If he really is interested in you, he will find time, aside from school hours, to see you. I shouldn't take stock in the sort of love making you say he indulges in. In fact, were I in your place, I would resent it most actively. Befuddled brains and inflated senses are not dependable.

There is no impropriety in your going with him to his home, provided some member of his family is there to receive you. It is highly improper, however, for you to speak of his former girl to him.

What you seem to lack, my dear, is a sense of humor. Why don't you laugh at this cheap next time he wants to put himself on the back by hearing you avow your love for him? Let your answer be that you simply adore him, that he's the world's greatest lover, that you can't live without him—all the extravagant things you can think of to say—and laugh while you say them. Bury your sentimentality deep under a gale of laughter. You've slipped on your sentimentalism. Most men dislike it. His type especially find it boring.

Do stop trying yourself all up into emotional knots, or you will be as absurd a picture as the young man. Be yourself. Be natural. Don't ask yourself so many questions. Behave as young woman of honesty, who respects herself and who expects her young man to conduct himself in a respectful manner, is bound to behave.

I hope this advice does not sound harsh, but the fact is that if you are looking for happiness you must curb your affection, until the young man changes his behavior.
